Savage Killer Of 10 Charged With 1st Degree Murder

DOUGLAS, Wyo. UP—Charles Starkweather, 39, "mad dog" killer of 10 and possibly 11 persons, was charged with first degree murder here today as a legal tug-of-war developed over his prosecution.

Meanwhile, the young marksman's only expressed concern was about his personal appearance.

Converse County Sheriff Earl Hefflin served Starkweather with a murder warrant, signed by Justice of the Peace Harry Wise. He accused Starkweather of murdering Merle Collison, 34, a Great Falls, Mont., shoe salesman.

LT. E.R. Henninger of the Lincoln, Neb., police department then questioned Starkweather. Henninger said he wanted to find out if the young man had committed more murders of which authorities were not aware.

But Henninger complained that Wyoming authorities showed they were "not cooperating," because he was not permitted to talk to Starkweather until today.

Asks for Boots

Starkweather was roused shortly after 7 a.m. in the Converse County jail by Hefflin, one of two law officers who ran the short and cocky young marksman to earth Wednesday in a bullet-riddled chase along a highway.

"How about my cowboy boots back?" asked Starkweather, who is wanted for a murder of the shoe salesman here and 9 or 10 killings in and around Lincoln, Neb.

Then in succession he asked for and got a breakfast of bacon and eggs, juice, toast and milk; his fancy black and white cowboy boots; and a bar of soap—to wash from his red hair the black shoe polish which he had used as a dye in a futile attempt at disguise.

Starkweather's bravado seemed to be returning. He had vanished for a time Wednesday after officials shot holes in his stolen Packard automobile during the

Outer Space May Crawl With These Mental Hazards

NEW YORK (UP)—An Air Force scientist says man may find space crawling with these mental hazards:

Marching squirrels, tiny rocket ships that fire pellets, and little men who swing on space ship instruments.

Reporting today to a meeting of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences, experimental psychologist George T. Hatty told of three pre-space-flight experiments.

One of them was conducted by McGill University scientists of Montreal, Canada. They wanted to find out what happened when you shut off sights, sounds and other sense stimuli. They closed male volunteers in cubicles for 48 hours.

Procession

Soon one subject reported: "A procession of squirrels with sacks over their shoulders marching purposefully across a snowfield."

Another said he saw a miniature rocketship shooting pellets at his arm.

In addition to having hallucinations, the volunteers became irritable and were unable to concentrate on complex ideas.

The volunteers were amused by the visions at first—but later complained that they interfered with their sleep.

Researchers made the experi-

Crossett Man Burns To Death

CROSSETT, Ark., (Special)—Steve Reese, about 60, was burned to death in his two-room house at Montrose last night.

The fire was reported to B. A. Courson, sheriff of Ashley County, at 7:10 a.m. Time of fire was estimated at 6:30 a.m.

The body of Mr. Reese was found seated on his couch, burned almost beyond recognition. The bachelor lived alone. No survivors have been located.

Mr. Reese had resided at Montrose for the past seven years. His frame house was heated with a kerosene heater. Sheriff Courson reported that Mr. Reese was known to have been drinking heavily during yesterday afternoon.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

U.S. Disturbed Over Summit Talk Pressure

Europe Opinion Favors Any Kind On Any Terms

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States faces mounting difficulties in holding to its position that a summit conference should be held only if there is advance proof it will be successful.

State Department officials are worried over reports from Western Europe that public opinion increasingly favors a top-level conference with Russian leaders on Soviet terms if it cannot be arranged on Western terms.

Solid Front

Officials report that there is so far no basic difference of view among Allied governments on their demand for careful preparation in advance of a top-level session. That preparation would have to afford proof that such a meeting can achieve agreements on important issues.

But public opinion in countries like Britain exerts a powerful pressure on government policies as it does here. This may make it difficult for the Allies to maintain a solid front on the matter.

Furthermore, the Soviets are expected to exploit to the limit the European interest in a meeting.

The State Department has received a steady stream of reports this week from embassies abroad on European press reaction to comments made by White House news secretary James Hagerty in a Sunday TV interview.

Hagerty said in substance that the only thing necessary was to agree on an agenda. After the broadcast, he specifically denied that he meant in any way to modify President Eisenhower's stated ambitions for a meeting.

Abundantly Clear

Nevertheless, reports to the State Department show that his original remarks were interpreted as indicating a modification and in the last three days the department has been making public statements trying to knock down this idea. The latest came from press officer Lincoln White.

Economic Decline Reported Blessing To Many Execs

CHICAGO (UP)—The current economic decline is turning out to be a "blessing in disguise" for some executives who get the ax, a job counselor said today.

Richard D. Gleason said many discharged executives "are getting better jobs than the ones they originally held."

"Good men are in as much demand as ever," Gleason said. "Where there is a difference, it is in the need to prove one's worth."

Gleason cited the case of one man who had been with his company for 14 years and admitted he would never have left of his own volition.

Some Of Frills

"When he was discharged," Gleason said, "he advanced from technical to executive work at 35 per cent more pay."

Despite widespread layoffs at lower levels, Gleason said he has seen no pronounced tendency to fire executives junior executives.

However, he said "some of the frills are being eliminated and people who are not completely adequate are being replaced by stronger people."

The "frills," he said, include ex-

Killer Wanted Publicity, Says Criminologist

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP)—A noted criminologist suggested today that a "compulsive drive for dominance and public recognition" caused red-haired Charles Starkweather to embark on his bloody trail of killings.

But the parents of the 19-year-old Lincoln youth claimed he went "berserk" because he faced blindness. Starkweather had recently been fired as a garbage collector because, his own brother said, he was too lazy to work.

Lincoln authorities, trying to determine a motive for the bloodiest crime spree in Nebraska history, contended the grade school graduate had impulsively killed a service station attendant for money, then murdered 10 other persons to hide the guilt of his original crime.

After his arrest late Wednesday in Wyoming, Starkweather signed a confession, but authorities refused to divulge its contents.

Totally Defeated Ego

Dr. James M. Reinhardt, former head of the University of Nebraska department of sociology and anthropology and a consultant to the Nebraska prison and the FBI, said he had followed the fast-breaking case with "interest."

In an interview with United Press, Reinhardt said "there was a totally defeated ego who had no satisfactory anchorage in the social life. Socially, he was simply an empty man. The only way he could be important was by killing."

"Killing gives you a command of the situation," the expert said. "The surest way to become dominant is to render the other fellow powerless."

Reinhardt said a person like Starkweather, 19, the Nebraskan accused of 10 slayings,

Gives Birth To Twins—I En Route

FREEMONT, Ill. (UP)—Mrs. Walter Smith gave birth to twin sons yesterday — on her way to a hospital.

She and her husband left their farm home at Egan by car for the 20-mile drive to Freemont.

A 6-pound 10-ounce son was born during the road trip.

The second twin, 5 pounds 15 ounces, was born unattended at the hospital entrance.

Attendants then hustled the mother and her babies inside and they were reported in excellent condition.

Sheriff Tells Of Wild Chase

By SHERIFF EARL HEFLIN As Told To United Press

DOUGLAS, Wyo. UP—I should have aimed a little to the left. A quarter of an inch would have done it. Another quarter of an inch and I'd have blown his head off.

We picked up his trail and Bob Ainsley, Douglas chief of police, had his '57 Plymouth up to 110 miles an hour before I could get a clear shot at that Packard.

The kid didn't pay any attention to our siren and once we almost ran him down but he outmaneuvered us. He didn't outmaneuver my '39-38 Winchester pump, though. I leaned out the window and fired away. I got about four good shots.

But, you know, the kid kept going. Then, about two minutes after I hit him, he halted. I guess he got a glimpse at his own blood and that scared him.

But he didn't act much like he wanted to cooperate even after

Texan Describes Struggle With Nebraska Killer

CASPER, Wyo. (UP)—A soft-spoken Texan who struggled with accused killer Charles Starkweather before his capture, said today "I knew that if he won, I would be dead."

Joe Sprinkle, 29 and a native of Wichita Falls, thus summed up his struggle over a rifle with Starkweather, 19, the Nebraskan accused of 10 slayings.

Sprinkle, a Navy veteran, now lives here with his petite wife, Pat. They marked their first wedding anniversary recently.

Sprinkle said he was on his way from Casper to Cheyenne and Douglas on business for his company. He is a landman for an oil firm.

Rain, Warmer Expected Here

The Spring-like blue skies which have cheered Twin Cities residents for the past two days are scheduled to change to rainy clouds tonight and tomorrow.

Scattered showers is the weatherman's forecast.

The mercury will drop to a damp 42 to 26 degrees tonight and is expected to reach 60 to 65 degrees tomorrow.

The high temperature recorded yesterday by CAA at Selman Field was 56 degrees. Low reading was 41 at midnight.

At mid-morning today the thermometer had reached 49 degrees.

No Trace Of Survivors At Pontchartrain

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A small private airplane today crashed into about 15 feet of water in Lake Pontchartrain as it came in to land at New Orleans Airport.

A search by three Coast Guard cutters and one helicopter turned up only a small amount of debris believed to have come from the plane.

Coast Guard search and rescue headquarters said there was no trace of survivors.

Police craft joined the Coast Guard in search and dragging attempts.

Tri-Pacer

A Coast Guard spokesman said one of the 40-foot cutters on the spot one-half mile off the airport landing strip hooked something while dragging, but it was not known whether it was part of the wreckage.

The airport tower said the pilot of the tri-pacer gave the last three digits of the plane number, 087, when he indicated he wanted to land. The plane was on an inbound landing pattern when it crashed.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration and Coast Guard were checking all airports within the four-place plane's range in an attempt to learn identity of the passengers.

Private Pilot

Witnesses said the plane suddenly spiraled, turned over 112 times, then banked to one side and hit the water. It disappeared beneath the surface within seconds, they said.

Donald Buckles, 30, a private pilot, said the plane was flying at an altitude of about 300 feet when it went into the spiral.

Private planes took off from the airport in attempts to locate the wreckage, but only spotted an oil slick in one spot. Coast Guard units were on the scene within minutes, witnesses said.

Dulles' Promises Apparently Save Baghdad Parley

ANKARA, Turkey (UP)—The Baghdad Pact ministers ironed out a last minute snag over Palestine today and signed a final communique halting the Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' answer to the Soviet economic offensive in the Middle East.

The ministers ended a four-day session at which Dulles' promises of aid appeared to have saved the Baghdad Pact conference from the brink of failure.

Points Mentioned

The last 15-minute snag was reported to have developed when Iraq—an Arab nation and a bitter foe of Israel—demanded that the Palestine question be included, Iraq wants Israel to retreat to its boundaries outlined in the United Nations.

Points mentioned in the communique included:

—Communist imperialism has in its efforts to dominate the Middle East since last summer. But it said the pact itself had "developed a strong and effective organization representing the best hope for the safeguarding of peace, liberty and independence in the area."

—Praise for Turkey for "standing against Soviet pressure, threats and false accusations when Moscow opened up a propaganda campaign against Ankara last fall, charging that Turkish troops were poised for an invasion of Syria."

—The pact nations will combine staff training exercises in the near future.

Parents Of Caged Children Held

YAKIMA, Wash. (UP)—Three small children who lived "like frightened animals" in wire cages built in the back of a trailer have been turned over to Yakima County authorities, officials said today.

Officials said the two boys, 5 and 2, and a 3-year-old girl, apparently were kept in the wire cages most of the day in addition to being forced to sleep in them.

Held at the county jail for investigation in the case were William B. Hankins, 49, and Ruth J. Mott, 38.

Deputy Sheriff Jack Runyan said he investigated the 12-by-14-foot trailer mounted on a truck chassis near Sunnyside, Wash., Saturday after a salesman reported the children were caged up in the trailer.

Three Built

Runyan said he arrived at the trailer about 10:30 a.m. and found Hankins still in bed. He said two of the children were still locked up in what he said resembled animal cages.

"They looked like frightened animals," he said.

Runyan reported the three cages were built over a bed at one end of the trailer. He said the cages were small and the older boy did not have enough room to stretch out inside the cage.

Gov't Decides To Release Russian Scientific Data

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The government has decided to let down all the bars and release for immediate public use more than 50,000 Soviet scientific documents a year, an authoritative source revealed today.

Every agency in the government which now translates such Soviet literature has agreed to take part in the plan, he said. "No longer will the documents be stamped 'secret' and left to gather dust in the files," he said. "From now on, all this important scientific material is going to be distributed to the nation's scientists just as fast as it can be handled."

Own Agency

The sharp reversal in government policy was revealed by a source close to the government who is here as a delegate to the conference of American Abstracting and Indexing Services. He asked not to be further identified. The bulk of the Soviet literature will be made available by the Central Intelligence Agency and the Air Force's Air Information Division. The Air Force set up its own intelligence agency to handle Soviet documents some years ago. It has been using the facilities of the Library of Congress.

The material to be released first is current literature which has been received and translated within the past year. A backlog estimated to contain hundreds of thousands of documents will be released in small batches so the flood of literature doesn't swamp the country's scientists.

Most of the material has been "secret" only insofar as this country is concerned. All has been published openly in the Soviet Union, or in such European countries as East and West Germany and France.

Translated Back

The source said the material had been stamped secret for three reasons—security, because the agencies couldn't afford to produce enough copies, and because they couldn't afford the considerable costs of distribution.

Some of the documents, the source said, "undoubtedly originated in this country, were translated into Russian by the Soviets, brought back to this country and translated back into English—and then stamped 'secret.'"

TEXAN KILLED IN ACCIDENT

DE QUINCY — UP — Robert Ellison Wheatley, 39, Houston, Tex., was killed instantly Wednesday, and two other men were injured in a two-car collision on state highway 12 near here. The injured were George W. Weeks, 32, Montgomery, Tex., and William C. McDonald, 24, Lafayette, La. McDonald was a hitch-hiker riding with Wheatley at the time of the accident.

Priest Seriously Injured In Fall From Elevator

NEW ORLEANS — UP — A vacationing Roman Catholic priest from Ocoee, Ill., was reported in fair condition today in a hospital where he is being treated for severe injuries received in an elevator fall.

The Rev. Michael McGovern, 53, was injured when he fell from a one-man conveyor belt used by a parking garage to carry attendants.

The accident occurred late the night of Jan. 22. He was admitted for treatment at Hotel Dieu at 3 a.m. Jan. 23.

New Orleans police made a routine investigation of the accident but did not make a report of the accident available to the press until Wednesday.

Father McGovern received severe lacerations of the scalp, possible brain injury, multiple fractures of ribs, collapsed lung, possible chest and kidney injuries and cuts over the entire upper half of the body.

Three priests with Father McGovern said he took a notion to ride the one-man elevator and jumped on.

It was believed he fell several floor levels.

Accompanying Father McGovern on a New Orleans vacation were the Rev. Leonard Rathgeb, Beardstown, Ill.; the Rev. Peter Masterson, Beardstown, Ill.; and the Rev. Joseph Miller, Marine, Ill.

The Brooklyn Bridge has more cables on one side than the other. Faulty cables were supplied, so additional cables were strung to make both sides of the bridge of equal strength.

U.S. SHORTAGE

Importing Maids Good Business

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A typical American shortage has made a good business for Tor Petterson. He imports housemaids.

The 41-year-old Norwegian opened the Scandia Placement Agency seven months ago. Since then he has brought 450 persons here from Scandinavian countries to work as domestics.

Good Way

"In the United States no one seems to want to work as a domestic," Petterson said. "Living standards are too high; the work no longer appeals to Americans. But Scandinavians feel differently about it. It's good training for them. Good training for marriage, a good way to come to know the United States and its way of life."

Petterson says his imports get $125 a month, plus room and board. The hiring family pays Petterson's $65 fee and also the passage money, deducting the latter from the servant's pay over a period of six months or a year. Petterson came here in 1945 with $7 and worked his way through California Institute of Technology. He will soon become an American citizen.

Social Graces

"If the American family is large, we try to find a strong, husky girl from a large family who'll fit in," Petterson said. "If the family is small—for example, in Beverly Hills—we try to find a girl who knows the social graces. We try to weed out the girl who is going only for the ride."

The average maid's age is 25 and the average working contract

18 months. Of the 450 imports so far, all but 20 were women. Ten of the men were husbands of maids.

2 Face Charges Of Auto Theft; Trailer Stolen

Two parish men, George O. Dyer and Horace B. Bryan, are in the parish jail facing a charge of automobile theft, Chief of Police James C. Kelly, Jr. said today. The two were apprehended late last night in an automobile, reported stolen earlier in the night. Kelly said Ben Dunn of Bastrop, told officers he had gotten out of his automobile, a late model sedan, to make a telephone call, when someone drove off in the vehicle. The theft occurred in the 300 block of Harrison street. Dyer and Bryan were picked up in the automobile shortly afterwards, hooked at the Monroe police department and transferred to the parish jail. In other action, the department is investigating the theft of a trailer from North Sixth street earlier this week. The trailer, property of Hugh Lennon, 1212 Natchitoches street, West Monroe, had been left parked on the street. When Lennon went to pick up the trailer it was missing. Officers are continuing an investigation into a report that a Negro woman was floored of $630 as a result of a pigeon dropping. The woman said a middle-aged Negro man told her he had found a wallet containing $2,000 and would share the money if she "would share the responsibility."

25 YEARS AGO

Proclamation Condemned 5 Million Germans To Death

By DONALD R. SHANOR

FRANKFURT, Germany (UP)—Twenty-five years ago today dying President Paul von Hindenburg signed a proclamation appointing a new premier and condemning five million Germans to death.

It was thus—legally and bloodlessly—that Adolf Hitler took over the chancellorship and embarked on a decade of gangsterism which drenched Europe in blood.

Hitler and his lieutenants ended their rule 12 years later in the only way they admitted it could end, as corpses.

The Germans who survived crawled from the rubble in 1945 and slowly established in the western half of their country a new constitution with built-in safeguards against another democratic suicide.

But even today they uneasily recalled the fateful proclamation a quarter of a century ago.

Didn't Trust Hitler
Hindenburg disliked and distrusted Hitler and only four days earlier had declared he would never appoint "the little Austrian corporal" as chancellor.

But by Jan. 30, 1933, the 85-year-old President, apparently alarmed by rumors of a violent government coup in the making, finally agreed to accept Hitler as chancellor.

Hindenburg's advisers, led by Franz von Papen, assured him that once Hitler was in office, they could control and manipulate him.

Less than two months later on March 23, a Nazi-packed parliament voted Hitler dictatorial powers.

Six months later, all other parties had been dissolved or banned and Germany became a totalitarian Nazi state.

Hindenburg appointed Hitler under the emergency clause of the constitution which did not require parliament's approval.

Majority Impossible

The country had been run by this clause since 1930, when continued squabbling in parliament made it impossible to form any kind of majority.

But Hindenburg's choice was a popular one. More than 17 million Germans of 39 million voted Nazi in the relatively free elections Hitler called two months later. He then banned the Communists to give his party a majority. The "legal revolution" was complete.

Hitler launched a vigorous program of fulfilling his election promises. He created jobs for the country's nearly six million jobless. He began raising an army to "right the wrongs" of the Versailles Treaty. His savage persecution of the Jews was another thing he had promised the voters.

Goebbels Made Boast

If it was a long-term government Hindenburg wanted when he accepted Hitler, he certainly got it. Goebbels wrote in 1932 that "Once we have power, we never will give it up. They would have to carry our bodies out."

Exactly 12 years and 3 months after Hitler was sworn in, he was carried out as a corpse—along with Goebbels.

By then, the man who "saved" Germany from Communism had heard Soviet army gunfire in Berlin. The industry his regime had revived lay in bomber ruins throughout the country, the territory, he had conquered for "Lebensraum" was recaptured, and occupation armies held the nation.

Today, 25 years after Hitler began to shape Germany's policies, the country is split three ways, with two eastern sections under Communist German and Polish control.

Khrushchev Tells Truth Sometimes

One thing too many people seem to have overlooked is the fact that Communist Boss Nikita Khrushchev doesn't always lie. Sometimes he tells the truth, particularly when the truth serves him better than a lie.

On April 23, 1956, he spoke the truth when he said that the Soviets would soon possess a nuclear guided missile. Apparently only a few people at the time took the statement at face value. One did. He was the late Senator McCarthy who said on April 23, two days after Khrushchev's statement:

"I, for one do not believe this was bragadocio on the part of Khrushchev. Our own intelligence sources have been reporting for a number of months, that the Soviet Union has made startling advances in the guided missile field

"Congress must know the facts. If the facts reveal that the guided-missile program is moving at a snail's pace—which I have strong reason to suspect—then Congress must move in, and order the program to be put on a 'crash' basis. This is our duty This is a responsibility from which Congress cannot abdicate

"I suggest that we set up a special joint congressional committee with full subpoena powers, to investigate the guided-missile program, and to keep a vigilant eye on its progress.

"If the committee finds that the program is not on an all-out basis then it must go into the further question of why If we are falling behind the Soviet Union in the development of a weapon that may permit communism to conquer us, then we must find out who is responsible

The Senate listened but did nothing. To most it was "just some more McCarthyism."

The Congressional Record is not always the gazetteer of mediocrity and dull reading most Americans think it is. Sometimes it can be very interesting and revealing and, even when it is not, it is still a record of what is done and said in the Congress. The quotations we have used here are from the Congressional Record of April 25, 1956.

When the Soviets launched Sputnik I, the Administration tried to brush it off and only a relatively few members of the Congress became concerned. Sputnik II joined both the Congress and the Administration and vindicated the late Senator McCarthy.

We have gone back to the Congressional Record, not for the purpose of justifying his position, but to point out that the same members who were in control of the Senate in 1956 are in control now and busy with the investigations which were urged two years ago, but got underway only after two Sputniks got them off center.

These same members and others in their party hierarchy and notably former President Truman are making stone-throwing motions in the direction of the White House and elsewhere. They would be wise to desist because our missile plight is something for which both parties must share equal responsibility.

Recrimination will serve no purpose nor will it gain either side any votes. There is too much in the record against both. What the Congress should do is to make a concentrated bi-partisan effort to determine how to best repair damage done the defense structure by its own complacency as well as that of others. It will see more clearly if it cures its own missile blindness first.

Says No 'Mafia' In This Country

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — Some weeks ago a number of our fellow citizens foregathered near a tank town called Appalachia, just north of the Pennsylvania line and a look and a holler west of Binghamton. They were attending a steak-fry and behaving in a genteel, law-abiding way. However, New York state police floundered in invading the home of Joseph Barbara, the host, with no pretense of an emergency nor any legal writ.

Ever since, that god of our idolatry, the press, including the narcotic weeklies that excite passion and distort opinion, has been hollering "Mafia." This term implies that people of Italian parentage and culture have criminal tendencies. There is no such thing as the Mafia in this country. The report to this expression is a wanon trick of a journalism that would not dare do the same to any other element of our society.

The New York cops did not find a pea-shooter at this steak-fry. No firearms, no sawed-off pointers for blackbacks, no narcotics. No dice. Yet the next morning the story squawked all over the papers and, in one quirk of editorial judgment, the photograph of Frank Costello appeared in the center of a line-up of five faces, with a leering observation in the text that Mr. Costello wasn't there. The other four had been there. Not to imply that I am going steady with Mr. Costello, I did discuss this with him and he said, "But Harry Truman wasn't there, either. I was home with my wife. Why pick on me?"

I note a suspicious distinction between the treatment of this revival of an ancient social rite and the performance of our journalism in relation to other big, secret assemblies.

In 1948, a group of rich conspirators sneaked down to Jekyll Island, off the coast of Georgia, and organized the federal reserve which to this day permits persons absolutely unknown to the American people to rig the price of the dollar and the value of our savings, pensions, investments and money—in parts. This was arranged by Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island, whose daughter was the mother of the present crop of Rockefeller brothers. The world never heard a word of it until years later, the story broke with a dull, powder-puff. Our people are too dumb to understand such things. Nevertheless, when the federal reserve hiked the interest rate last summer wiping out billions of theoretical values day after day, that was a direct consequence of the secret meeting of private citizens on Jekyll Island. And actually, those people from Wall Street did speak down there. They used false names even among themselves, they did the whole business on the sly, and there were foreigners among them.

Very quietly, soon before the "Time-Life International and Stanford" etcetera convalesce, old Cyrus Eaton, of Cleveland, who is rich, headstrong and perverse, convened an impudent at Pugwash, Nova Scotia, his summer home, attended by a lot of Russians who might not have been welcome in this country.

This also was confidential and an independent, private party. And since then we have had the "report" of "moral studies" of the Rockefeller Brothers' fund. All these may matter only now, but these giants of mere wealth and magazine-power could do us much worse harm if their activities get out of control than any bunch of uncouth loafers holding a secret steak-fry.

The Rockefeller brothers are nonentities without their money. Eaton is just a man without port-folio. And my knowledge of Luce and his wife and of his journalism does not recommend him for unlimited confidence.

A number of similar clambakes within the last three years have been much more portentous than the best steak at Appalachia. There is not a wisp of evidence that Barbara's guests were an underworld Chamber of Commerce, but even if I assume that these fellows were manipulating a world market in heroin, loaded dice, lapsed roulette wheels and illicit behavior by pretty females, I find the case less ominous to all of us than the potentials of last year's tip the meeting at St. Simon Island, close by Jekyll Island.

This one was attended by Arthur Hays Sulzberger, the publisher of the New York Times, and Ralph McGill, editor of the Atlanta Constitution, both pretentious journalists who for this meeting devoted themselves of the only titles that give them any public importance, however spurious. They smothered a story that deserved loud journalism.

Last fall, Henry Luce convened an international klavner near San Francisco attended, so the AP said, by "500 capitalists from 61 nations" under the aegis of "Time-Life International and the Stanford Research Institute." Whatever those may be, Luce's Time magazine did not refer to his part in the deal, but his Life magazine did. But who the hell is Luce?

When I was last in Rome, he convened a "conference" of an odd bunch called the Bilderberg Group, with Paul Hoffman as the principal American speaker. I chased Hoffman for days and hunted the leaky old palace where Luce pulled it off, but I never caught up with Hoffman and he sent me word that he had kept no notes of his speech. Luce's wife was our ambassador in Rome then and the embassy underwrote the show.

Summit Meet Still Cloudy Issue

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — The summit conference idea was getting nowhere. Then President Eisenhower's press secretary, James Hagerty, got into the act. So did Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev. The result: the idea is still getting nowhere.

This country and Russia have agreed in a general way that a summit conference is a nice idea.

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: We are members of a new and struggling church. Our young pastor is making demands for financial support. Do you think it is wrong for him to make such demands, and is there any reason why he can't do other work? P. A.

ANSWER: I do not know your young minister, but I would say that if he is a deeply spiritual man, with a desire to give more time to his calling, you have a duty to do your best for him financially. The Bible teaches: "The laborer is worthy of his hire." The Bible also teaches, in Galatians 6:6, "Let him that is taught in the Word commend unto him that teacheth in all good things."

One of the most unpaid groups of men in the world are ministers. Almost every survey indicates that the average minister's pay is far below what it should be.

On the other hand, I have never felt that any minister should make a demand. Perhaps you have used the wrong word in describing a legitimate suggestion or proposition from his point of view.

To answer your question more specifically, there is nothing fundamentally wrong with a minister working. Paul did in his time, and many others have done so in the long history of the Church. That does not mean that it is the best way to do it. Your pastor cannot give the time nor the effort to his ministry if he must give a living by other means. You would probably be the first to criticize if he failed to visit the sick or preach a good sermon on Sunday. I suggest the people give a little extra.

The U. S. Post Office said that in 1956 about 21 million letters were sent to dead letter offices because of illegible handwriting.

They don't agree on how to go about it.

Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles take this position: because of all that could be discussed, there's no sense in a summit meeting until there are preparations on what should be discussed.

The Russians haven't flatly rejected that. But they seem to be saying: preliminaries aren't necessary; let's get together and start talking right at the top.

Russian Premier Bulganin, in a December letter to Eisenhower didn't go into details on how to have a summit get-together. He just said there ought to be one.

Then he wrote another letter to Eisenhower Jan. 9. This time he expressed doubt that the American and Russian foreign ministers would ever agree if they met first to decide what should be discussed at the summit.

The next day Dulles called for presummit preparations. He didn't say only the foreign ministers could make them. He said foreign ministers could, or diplomats could, or both could do it. And he added something to give this country an out if it didn't like the way the preparations for the summit went. He said there should be "reasonable assurance" a summit meeting would "accomplish some desirable results."

Eisenhower answered Bulganin's first letter Jan. 12. Like Dulles, he called for presummit preparations. He went a little further than Dulles in his idea of preparations. He said both diplomats and foreign ministers should work them out.

He included the same kind of out as Dulles: he said through the preparations it could be seen whether the summit meeting would be worthwhile. Up to this point the waters, while not going anywhere, were fairly calm.

Then Khrushchev sounded off Jan. 26. He appeared to be telling this country that if it expected any kind of worthwhile summit conference it would have to be on Russian terms.

He said Russia would discuss— he didn't say agree on—a ban on intercontinental missiles (a suggestion by Eisenhower to Bulganin) only as part of a package that included discussion on points this country has never yet agreed to.

That same day, Jan. 27, Hagerty appeared on a TV press interview. He said the diplomats and foreign ministers should meet before a summit conference. But he said they didn't have to agree on anything except what would be discussed at the summit.

Now For The Ride!

Democrats' Political News Printed More Than Republicans'

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The Eisenhower administration, under heavy attack by the Democrats for the last several months, is faced with the fact that the Democrats make more political news than do the Republicans.

Maybe this is because the Democrats are in control of all the important committees and investigations in Congress that are given wide publicity. Senator Lyndon Johnson's office, for example, is second in Washington only to the President's office in its mimeographed output of press releases that make the headlines. That's just one of the many ways the Democrats — but, strangely enough, it is considered by some critics to be unduly partisan when members of the President's Cabinet or White House aides talk politics in public.

An episode in point occurred last week. President Eisenhower went to Chicago to address a $100-a-plate dinner organized by the Republicans as part of a nationwide display of Republican speakers in various cities. Mr. Eisenhower said during the course of his speech:

"Our first objective — security and a just peace — is not a partisan or political matter. Americans must never and will never let the issue of security and peace become a pawn in anyone's political chess game."

This was immediately seized upon by the Democrats as meaning that nobody hitherto in the Republican administration should make any speeches at political gatherings or elsewhere on the subject of security or peace. Several editorials were published criticizing Sherman Adams, presidential assistant, because on the same night he, too, demanded that political partisanship should not be the motivation of legislators or anyone else in government in dealing with defense and security.

There wasn't really any basic difference between the viewpoint of the President and Mr. Adams, yet it was widely regarded as a clash. Why, it might be asked, except to make political news and bolster the morale of his party workers, did the President himself go to a Republican dinner in Chicago and talk about America's need for resolute action on the peace and security front? He said later on in the same speech:

"More than a year ago, by the test of the ballot box, America vigorously approved the Republican rational record and direction of advance. The lesson is clear: When what we stand for is known and understood, the overwhelming majority of the American people support our objectives and programs."

Isn't that a political expression, and a proper one? What the President really meant by his remarks at the Chicago dinner was that his administration was not going to play politics with the peace and security questions and would not be motivated by political influences or demagoguery in reaching the decisions that America must make on these important problems.

The dilemma — how to fight back at the opposition and yet be unpartisan in operating the government itself — is not unusual in political history. Once upon a time there was a Republican in the Presidency named William Howard Taft. He had been elected by a landslide in 1908 and was immensely popular. But two years later the Democrats swept the House of Representatives. A rift in the Republican Party occurred, and by 1912 there were three parties battling in the political arena.

One day President Taft sent for the late Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press, and wanted to know why the Republican administration was getting so little publicity.

"We don't make the news," replied

Mr. Stone. "We just report it."

This gave President Taft food for thought. He realized that his administration was under attack but had done very little to defend itself in the public prints. Mr. Taft himself had spent most of his life on the bench and wasn't used to political combat. It was generally conceded that he was not a politician. He was so unpartisan-minded that he named a Democrat to his Cabinet — which was unheard of in those days — and he later named an ex-Confederate soldier from the South to be Chief Justice of the United States. He got exactly eight electoral votes in his bid for re-election in 1912.

Mr. Taft didn't realize — any more than Mr. Eisenhower does sometimes — that politics is a battle of contending forces every day in the year and that the side which makes the news gets the space in the newspapers. Some of the Democratic Party politicians today, including Harry Truman, like to talk of a "one-party press" in America, by which they imply that the editorial pages are largely Republican in their sympathy.

But Franklin Roosevelt used to say, "Give me the front news page, and you can have the rest of the paper."

Mr. Eisenhower finds himself confronted regularly at his press conferences with queries about politics, including security and peace. Reporters interrogate him with all the vigor and partisanship of a political debate in Britain's House of Commons, where the opposition customarily tries to cross-examine the government in power.

If it is really desired to keep politics out of the White House as it relates to the peace or security issues, the President would have to ban all questions from the press on those subjects, too, or at least refuse to answer them — and what a howl that would produce!

Ultimately, there had to be an end, and it was clear what Judge Letts' decision was going to be: against Hoffa.

The appointment of the Board of Monitors was the court's own stipulation. If Hoffa took office at all, it could only be under the strictest supervision and under terms equivalent to a court receivership. Hoffa would have been happy to settle for new elections at once, including a new international convention similar to the one last September, the actions of which the rank and filers had challenged.

Schmidt said no. If that were done, the membership would leave legal and there was no way to prove them otherwise.

Legal fees must be added to this. It was attorney Edward Bennett Williams, defense counsel for Hoffa, who recommended that he accept the consent agreement.

As of the time the defense rested, the trial already had dragged on for about two months, and the prospects were for at least three months more. Williams himself estimated it would be closer to four.

The burly, barking figure of Dave Beck sat in on the conference and made himself loudly known as opposing any agreement at all. The position was not surprising. As long as Hoffa's court troubles were pending, Beck was still temporary international president at $50,000 a year.

The money didn't matter, because in retirement Beck would continue to draw the same amount. But he had a theory that, somehow, the longer he continued to serve as international president, the more it would save the sting of the exposures of his past.

The consent agreement would end this. Hoffa, even in the strait-jacket the court imposed on him, would become president, and Beck would be cast aside, just a has-been with an array of ugly court actions to face and few if any friends to console him.

Hoffa, however, refused to stand still for Beck's ideas.

Attorney Williams reminded him that in this case, there was no jury that might be swayed by forensics. This was before a judge, and a veteran one at that, 81 years old and totally unconcerned with public opinion, political popularity or any other extraneous considerations.

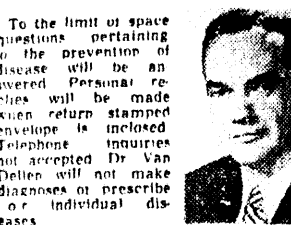

Williams knew, also, that the facts by which he could disprove the allegations of the rank and filers simply were not there. According to the standards already established by Judge Letts, the election of delegates had been il-

How To Keep Well

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

EATING AND NONEATING PHASES IN TOTS

Children have a ravenous appetite when they are in periods of growth spurts, especially during adolescence. In between, they may not eat as much in proportion to their size as an adult, despite their unlimbed activities. They are more interested in playing and watching TV than in eating.

This is upsetting to the parents because a child needs food for growth and energy. The best plan is to compromise by serving well-balanced meals when the tot is in the mood to eat. All the essential food elements should be included in the menus.

Every child from 1 to 6 years of age should get at least three to four measuring cups of milk a day. This beverage contains most of the essential food elements in an easily assimilated form. After a day is over, however, as well as a serving of white or sweet potato. Meat, poultry, fish, and cottage cheese are rich in the type of proteins the body needs; the youngster requires the equivalent of one to four tablespoons daily, depending upon age and appetite.

Fruit is rich in vitamin C and the daily requirement of this vitamin can be satisfied by taking a medium sized orange, 1-3 cup of citrus fruit juice, or 2-3 cup of tomato juice. Other fruits such as apricots, prunes, peaches, bananas, and berries are equally nutritious and, in addition, supply roughage.

A daily serving of cooked vegetables is necessary, and the same can be said of raw carrots, cabbage, tomatoes, or lettuce. The menu should include one to three slices of whole grain or enriched bread and a serving of cereal. Butter or fortified margarine may be added to the vegetables or spread on bread. Supplementary vitamins seldom are necessary except for D, which is obtained from fish liver oils, capsules, or fortified milk.

All children have food likes and dislikes. They also go through spells of wanting to eat the same dish over and over again. These quirks are common but — happily — temporary. Play ball when this occurs but return to a balanced diet as soon as the phase disappears.

Muscle Weakness

C. E. writes: What is done for muscular weakness?

Reply

At the time of this writing there is no successful remedy. The victim of muscular dystrophy is urged to indulge in mild exercise to retain what muscle strength he has, and to eat meals high in vitamins and proteins. Vitamin E has been recommended with dubious results.

Dry Skin

R. M. writes: Why is it that since I went on a low fat diet my skin has become scaly?

Reply

There is no relationship between the two, and you ought to be examined to determine whether your metabolism is low. Meanwhile, lubricate your skin with cream, or an oily lotion, especially after bathing.

Ulcer Diet and Weight

W. R. writes: If a person is gaining weight on an ulcer diet, can he safely cut his intake?

Reply

Yes, because most ulcer diets contain a variety of foods and the number of calories can be lowered by reducing the amount one-third at each meal.

Today's Health Hint

Older employees keep up with the young in operating machinery, but not in manual labor.

no one but Hoffa to vote for, and he probably would be re-elected by default, for lack of competent competition. Besides, Schmidt wanted time for the Board of Monitors to study operations and force necessary reforms in the constitution and bylaws, international as well as local, to insure that the next election is legitimate.

It was this or nothing, with Beck retaining the driver's seat for months to come, so Hoffa paid off. He even financed the necktie party that the rank and filers gave him in the courts, and the international agreed to pay the salaries and expenses of the monitors.

FRED FUDICKAR, JR.

C. Of C. Launches Action Program For Coming Year

The Monroe Chamber of Commerce's program of work was officially launched today as the 1958 community blue print for action entered into its initial phase when legislative committee chairman Fred Fudickar, Jr., formally announced his committee's action program.

Fudickar announced that his group would work on legislative matters at the federal, state and local levels in attempting to give business members a liberal subject by subject analysis of what is happening on Capitol Hill.

The 23-man legislative committee was divided into five subgroups in order to allow broader coverage of issues, he said.

These committees include: labor or union abuses, federal interference with free-market agriculture, economic controls, government competition with business enterprises and federal intervention in state and local affairs.

"We are not interested in personalities or pressure group policies from our legislative study viewpoint," the 1957 president of the Monroe Chamber of Commerce declared.

"This means that the keen interest instilled in the legislative committee will be directed towards informing the 600 members of the Monroe Chamber of Commerce in an unbiased manner on the 'pro and con' content of basic legislation."

Subcommittee leaders will include Johnny Usrey, Usrey Lumber Co.; Edmund Brown, News-Star-World Publishing Co.; James W. Moore, Kellogg Oil Company; L. U. Fourny, Fourny Insurance Co.; and Rudy McIntyre of Hudson, Potts and Bernstein.

Volunteer committeemen include Wayne Woods, H. M. James, Jake Usrey, C. D. McAdams, John Sherrouse, Jr., Paul Ransom, Charles Womack, Mike Johns, Diehlman Bernhardt, Harry Bell, Bobby Pappas, B. B. Martin, Ben Marshall, Miles Sager and Dr. Jack Jackson.

Gleason said the man fired because of such a clash normally can look forward to a "happier connection" and an opportunity to turn over a new leaf if he has been at fault.

Gleason, former employee relations manager for General Electric in New York, heads a firm which counsels management men on careers and draws up job-hunting campaigns for them. His firm does not contact employers on behalf of clients.

He said, "There seems to be no tightening of salary levels. But—and this is a big but—there is a serious tightening of job standards."

"Many firms actually seem willing to pay more for the same job," he said, "but they want men with considerably more proven talent."

Gleason said he would advise the executive to avoid changing jobs if he can and, instead, to "keep himself sold" to his boss and work toward a higher spot in his present firm.

DUE TO COTTON SHORTAGE

Textile Industry Faces 'Calamity'

By B. N. Timmons
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Congress was warned today by cotton industry spokesmen that American textile mills may have to close down or curtail their operations if the 1958 national cotton acreage allotment is not increased.

William Rhea Blake, executive vice president of the National Cotton Council, told the Senate Agriculture Committee that a "very serious" supply situation has developed with respect to good cotton.

The industry, he added, is facing a "calamity" because of the low supplies.

Charles A. Cannon, president of Cannon Mills, Kannapolis, N.C., added a further gloomy note when he stated that in North Carolina between 200,000 and 225,000 persons are going to be out of work unless the mills can get the necessary quantity of cotton.

"We should have a crop of from 15 to 16 million bales this year to meet our needs," he said.

(Congressman Otto E. Passman, who left Monroe for Washington Wednesday, said he would support a 25 per cent increase over last year's acreage. Passman, who represents the heart of the Mississippi Delta cotton producing area, said he would support increased acreage, among other things, to increase farm earnings.)

Despite warnings by witnesses, Chairman Allen J. Ellender (Dem., La.), later termed prospects for congressional action hiking cotton allotments, "very dim."

The Louisiana Democrat said he has tried to get Benson to increase the allotment administratively but that the secretary has not acted to do so.

Blake pointed out that as of last Aug. 1 there was a carry-over of 11 million bales. This August we expect to have a carry-over of eight million bales."

Cannon later described the carryover as the "dregs of six years' cotton production." He also stated the United States should be exporting seven million bales of cotton per year, if it had its fair share of the foreign market.

"While we have been cutting our farmers in half, everyone else in the world is doing better," he declared.

Cannon said "the most damaging thing was the placing of supports on middling seven-eighths inch cotton."

He said reduction in cotton production this past year, due to excessive rainfalls, was "an act of God."

In another experiment, Haury and R. Payne confined 30 volunteers in cockpits and put them to work for 30 consecutive hours. They had to regulate and control certain occurrences using dials and buttons on instrument panels.

While allowed 20-minute breaks at mealtimes, they were not permitted to sleep.

Much to the surprise of researchers, the subjects reported hallucinations and illusions.

Some were simple and poorly defined, said Haury—for instance "the instrument panel kept melting and dripping to the floor."

Other subjects reported more well-organized phenomena such as: "On several occasions, the instrument showed a hippopotamus smiling at me."

Another said he spent a good deal of time brushing away little men who kept swarming on the air speed indicator and preventing him from reading it.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the administration program calls for a 5 per cent tariff reduction a year for a five-year period.

High Tariffs

The argument by backers of the program is that lower tariffs stimulate world trade and are helpful all around. On the other side, the contention is made that increased imports hurt American producers and cause U.S. workers to lose jobs.

Eisenhower took sharp issue with those who insist high tariffs are necessary to protect American industry.

"We can either receive the benefits of the reciprocal lowering of trade barriers," the President said, "or suffer the inevitable alternative of increasingly high barriers against our own commerce which would weaken our economy and jeopardize American jobs."

ments showed only an increase of eleven per cent.

Coverdale's statement read: "Articles appearing in the newspapers for the past few weeks have stressed the point of revaluation of assessments in Louisiana."

"Figures from the records of the Ouachita parish tax assessor's office refute the claims made in the articles in so far as the alleged small increases since 1929 are concerned. I suppose the PAR (Public Affairs Research Council) will take these figures as they did the $211,000,000 (million) increase over the state and compare them against 1929 figures, so the assessors of the state and the Louisiana Tax Commission get absolutely no credit for this $211,000,000 increase. This action, I believe, is a punch below the belt."

"Regardless of how they try to revamp these figures, this is the record. Assessments of property in Ouachita parish have risen more than twice its value in the past 18 years."

"Very often we hear some people suggest revaluation, but in the same breath they say they are paying enough taxes. But the other fellow should be raised, is the usual reply to questions. I want to state that if we ever have revaluation, there will be no back door to my office and the ones who are advocating revaluation will get theirs just as the rest."

"I have always been fair with the home owners, business and industry because business and industry creates jobs for the home owners."

"I am not going to state I have low value or I have high values, but I do have fair values for the assessment of property in Ouachita parish. The assessors are elected by the people. It is our responsibility to serve them and the way I feel we are serving the public, but public servants. If any property owners in Ouachita parish want to pay more taxes, then they can come by my office, and I will be glad to accommodate them."

Worn-Out Veteran Of The Past

Tired, Old, Veteran City Hall Awaits Demolition

By LILAH BABIN
Staff Writer

On the corner of Trenton and Pine Streets in West Monroe, the town's first city hall patiently awaits destruction. Its windows, like great tired eyes, contemplate the empty, crooked street, and its walls, which it had dominated for almost half a century.

Constructed in 1877 at a cost of $15,000, the "Town Hall" was begun under the administration of Mayor John T. Higgins.

The old city hall now occupies office space for the West Monroe street and garbage department, the water and sewer department, and the state drivers' license bureau.

On the second floor, the deserted courtroom echoes hollowly as the intruder disturbs the dust which has settled on the fringes of the and on the rafters before which fire station.

Maintaining law and order in the strapping little town was the duty of a single policeman, who also served as tax collector, jailer, and general municipal handyman.

High, carved, once a hunchy beams are now the nesting place of sparrows which chirp cheerfully where courtroom listeners sit in expectant silence.

The tower of the old building tries in vain to hold its crumbling facade close to the sky. But pompous pigeons strut and coo where a bell once clanged out.

The bell itself is now in the possession of the West Monroe High School. Benches, which used to proclaim their former team's triumphs.

But the opening of the city hall was not the beginning of any movement for the west side of the Ouachita. Many pieces of history had already been filed.

Before this first municipal building was constructed, town officials held their meetings in various stores. Law-breakers were tried, convicted and sentenced by the mayor in "any convenient place."

A copy of the city charter, granted in 1850, was transferred to the present city hall, and is preserved in the archives there, along with first ordinances.

In faded, flowery script the charter, which was signed by the five city "trustees" and Mayor Z. T. Wright, defined the boundaries of the town and provided for its government.

Numbered 191, the first ordinance stated that it "shall be unlawful for any person to shoot off willfully or to discharge willfully any fire arms within limits of the corporation of West Monroe." The offense was punishable by not less than five dollars and costs and not more than 10 days.

Other ordinances, strongly warned citizens against various offenses. They were advised not to "disturb the peace or good order . . . by quarreling or fighting on the streets or alleys or in any house." Another forbade bathing in the river or in front of "said town" "within the hours of daylight."

Liquor flowed freely on Saturday nights when the country folk came to town. Those who over-indulged were warned that "all persons found drunk and lying on any of the sidewalks or boulevards of the town or in any street alley or ditch or any public square or vacant lot" would be immediately put in the "cellar-house."

One law plainly frowned on letting hogs run loose in the streets—unless, of course, they were "ringed properly."

As the years went by, additional ordinances prohibited the operating of cattle pens, slaughter houses traveling shows and menagerie circuses within the city limits.

Finally the day came when it was felt that a city hall was needed to properly house city officials. The tax money was voted, the building completed, and Town Hall began its long stretch of service.

Leon Wood, West Monroe city clerk, said that all offices were on the second floor when the building was first occupied, with the front entrance sheltering the man, C. E. Uncle Pat Averett, and a fire engine, a hand-cart represented the iron hand of the town, which was either pushed or drawn by a scale horse.

With the purchase of two motor-driven fire trucks, one in 1922 and one in 1926, two paid firemen and policeman were added to the town's forces. Other forces to give day and night protection, serving as volunteers, section to the citizens. He was paid $1 for each fire.

Later, Wood recalled, the fire trucks were moved to the north entrance on Pine Street and the town office was used as a combined mayor and clerk's office. The city officials now meet in a $100,000 structure completed about 1928.

"At that time," the city clerk said, "the mayor was only a part-time employee."

In 1928, the building was again down in the near future," the city clerk said, and the lot will be used as the site for a new municipal building.

And the tired old city hall will settle with a sigh into a pile of bricks.

Pasture Feeding Care Is Advised

MADISON, Wis.—UP—Lush green pastures are now available for livestock, but F. Nichols, a University of Wisconsin veterinary scientist, reports.

Nichols said that new pastures intensify blood problems because young lambs cause a rapid production of froth in the paunch of cattle and sheep. An excessive amount of this froth develops pancreatic pressures, endangering the animal's life, he said.

Nichols said that detergents will control frothing, but is only effective for a short time and is not too practical. Penicillin controls the microbes which make the froth, but also reduces feed efficiency in the animal.

Before research develops a "sure way" of controlling bloat, he said, farmers will have to watch exactly what the animals eat. Nichols advised farmers to fill animals up with hay before they are turned into a new pasture.

Cohen, Chicago Police 'Chat'

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago police floor and beaten. He signed a battery complaint against Cohen and Cohen as he arrived at Midway Airport yesterday and asked him downtown for a "chat."

No charges were filed against Cohen, police said, and he went to police headquarters "of his own volition."

"We just brought him in for a chat," Police Lt. Maurice Higgins said, "and we plan to keep him under surveillance during his stay here."

Cohen, an ex-convict and a big-time West Coast gambler, told police he was in Chicago for three or four days of personal business. He is no stranger to Chicago police.

Last May, he wrote Police Commissioner Timothy J. O'Connor, complaining about special treatment he said Chicago police were giving him.

"Instead of wasting the valuable time of your men in watching me, Grove, and Dr. B. B. Ball of may I make a suggestion," he wrote. "I will send you a daily itinerary of my goings and comings, etc., and if you wish I will call your office every hour to inform you to my whereabouts."

Two police squad cars waited for Cohen at the airport. When he emerged from the airliner he had about 35 passengers, three detectives met him.

The police escort apparently had nothing to do with a Hollywood night club brawl earlier in which Cohen tangled with a waiter, Arthur M. Black, who at each concert was "Don't mess with the Fence Me In."

Ike Hamilton Heads Cattlemen

Ike Hamilton of West Monroe, was elected president of the Ouachita Parish Cattlemen's Association.

Other officers named were Bill Watson, vice-president and Leslie Hunt, secretary.

State officials present for the meeting included W. I. Brion of Alexandria, president, and Louis Stevens of Colfax, secretary.

Dr. Charles B. Smith, Oak Grove, and Dr. B. B. Ball of Monroe, both veterinarians, examined the compulsory Bangs disease testing program.

The state convention of cattlemen's associations has been set for Feb. 10-11 at the Jung Hotel in New Orleans, Hamilton announced.

VIOLINIST AMUSES INMATES JACKSON, Mich. (UP)—Concert violinist Dave Rubinoff brought the house down at two successive concerts at Michigan State Prison. His concluding number, "The Swan," was "Don't mess with the Fence Me In."

Special Class Registration Set

Saturday has been designated as registration day for students enrolling in special Saturday morning and late afternoon classes for the spring semester at Northeast Louisiana State College.

Registration for regular classes closed today but Dean William M. Smith announced that regular students may also schedule courses Saturday.

Night course enrollment is set for Monday at 7 p.m. in the amphitheatre of the Administration Building.

More than 1,000 students had enrolled at the close of the first day of registration, it was announced.

EARLY TIMES

TRUE GOODNESS in whisky is like character in a man. It's there for the world to see. In Early Times this goodness is remarkable. It's so good, Kentuckians themselves choose it over all other straight whiskies. So good, millions of people in the U.S.A. have made it their personal whisky. 'MAD DOG' IN JAIL

CARIL FUGATE—Caril Fugate of Lincoln, Nebraska sits in the Converse County Sheriff's office in Douglas, Wyoming after she was picked up by Wyoming authorities with Charles Starkweather, accused murderer of ten persons. (AP Wirephoto.)

Savage Killer

"I shot them all in self defense," he was quoted as telling a deputy sheriff.

But her state of shock seemed giving way to hysteria. She repeatedly called "Mom, Mom!" from her jail cell.

Her mother is dead and was one of the victims of Starkweather's rampage, along with her stepfather and half sister.

Two county commissioners, E.C. Robbins and George Cross, said they will try to get County Atty. William Dixon to waive prosecution so that Nebraska authorities may extradite Starkweather.

Complicating the situation was Gov. Milward Simpson's avowed stand against capital punishment.

FBI Is Interested

Dixon conferred with federal authorities. The FBI has a fugitive warrant out for Starkweather, and indications were there might be federal kidnapping charges involved.

Dixon disclosed Wednesday night that Starkweather spent an hour writing a statement which he called a "confession."

Dixon would not say what it contained.

He said Starkweather plans to call his father in Lincoln, Neb., today to arrange for an attorney.

At the same time, Dixon said he would file charges accusing Starkweather of the murder of Merle Collison, 34, a Great Falls, Mont., shoe salesman found slain in his car about 10 miles from here.

Decision on Charges Today

Dixon said he would decide later today whether to press the charge or turn Starkweather over to Nebraska authorities, who want him for the slaughter of nine persons in the Lincoln area.

Both Wyoming and Nebraska have death penalties, but Wyoming Gov. Milward Simpson is opposed to execution in the state's gas chamber.

Starkweather, who had dyed his

LAST VICTIM —Merle Collison, 37, Great Falls, Mont., shoe salesman, became the 10th and last victim of a brutal killer Wednesday when he was shot while asleep in his car near here, police said. Charles Starkweather, 19, Lincoln, Neb., is being held in connection with the slayings. (AP Wirephoto.)

Killer Wanted

Starkweather who will kill many times without any apparent reason "must theorize that he wants to be important and wants to get even with people, and one way to do it is with a gun."

"He says to himself, in effect, 'I never would amount to anything hauling garbage. I ask for permission to drive a car and they tell me to go to hell, I can't do it. I determine to make myself important and want to make the newspapers. I want to push United Nations and Sputnik off the front pages.'"

Feared Going Blind

Of course, Reinhardt said, such a person does not sit down and analyze his own situation in so many words.

But numerous studies have shown, he said, that such persons seem to reason in that manner because their urge to become important becomes so powerful "it is compulsive and he cannot think about the consequences."

The killer's father, Guy Starkweather, unemployed Lincoln carpenter and the father of six other children, said his son had been warned he had a form of astigmatism that would cause blindness within a year, and this had been worrying him.

The father said Charles was also worried because he had been fired from several jobs, and had recently suffered illness that caused him to lose 30 pounds.

"A few years ago he had been hit on the forehead with a 2-by-4 and never felt right since," the father said.

turned around and pulled up behind the westbound car.

Hidden Behind

The westbound car was that of Merle Collison, 37, of Great Falls, Mont., shoe salesman slain near Douglas, Wyo., shortly before Starkweather's arrest.

"I saw a young man open the highway side of the car and asked if I could help."

"He straightened up with a rifle he had hidden behind him and said, 'raise your hands. Help me release the emergency brake or I'll kill you.'"

"Then I noticed the dead man behind the wheel 'Collison'."

"As I approached him, I was in the middle of the road. I knew that if he won I would be dead. I managed to wrestle it away from him."

"He then ran for the other car facing toward Douglas."

"My clothes were torn. As

MARKET DIGEST

The Senate Agriculture Committee has listened to a detailed explanation by the National Cotton Council as to why increased acreage is needed for 1958, principally because of the severe scarcity of good qualities due to failure of the 1957 crop. Mill and merchant representatives also testified along similar lines. The attitude of the committee appeared to be cool to the proposal.

Profit taking continues in egg futures with about 150 sales in September between 4045 and 4050. New York cash offerings held 1/2 higher in midwestern markets, but nearby markets has traded 1/2 lower.

The Portland Weyerhaeuser Timber Company has closed down two of its four paper machines at its Longview, Wash., pulp division. About 200 workers were affected. A company spokesman said the shutdown was issued because of slow orders.

The Federal Power Commission today cleared the way for construction of the $600 million Niagara Falls hydroelectric project. The commission told the New York state power authority its four-mile waterway adjoining the project should be built as a cut and cover conduit.

The First Boston Discount Corporation announced today that it was cutting yields on bankers acceptances by 1/4 percent a point effective immediately.

Building Permits

The following building permits have been issued by Sam Ayl, city building inspector:

Winnetta Thomas, add to one story frame dwelling at 4103 Spurgeon Drive; cost, $600.

Nolen Justice, add to one story frame dwelling at 1213 Florida; cost, $500.

Neon Sign Service Co., construct one story steel and brick structure at 2103 Roselawn Ave.; cost, $16,000.

Paul Gilmont, build one story brick veneer dwelling at 2740 Point Drive; cost, $21,750.

Charles A. Savage, add to one story frame dwelling at 1502 North McGuire Ave.; cost, $600.

A. C. Breckinridge, build one story brick veneer dwelling at 1600 Glenmar; cost, $13,500.

A. J. Armstrong, build one story masonry office building at 2000 and 2004 Stubbs Ave.; cost, $2,000.

Allen Solman, build one story brick veneer dwelling at 2209 Beechwood Drive; cost, $15,000.

Rev. James D. Cain, add to one story frame dwelling at 501 D'Arbonne Ave.; cost, $800.

Walter Watson, build one story frame dwelling at 4005 Wiley; cost, $2,200.

Joe C. Sampognaro, add to one story brick structure of Southside Drugs at 1512 and 1514 South Second; cost, $3,000.

G. T. Turpin, build one story frame dwelling at 3006 Grammont; cost, $8,000.

Starkweather ran a trucker pulled up and stopped. I ran to his truck. Then I saw the girl (Caril Fugate) run from the Collison car to deputy Sheriff Bill Romer's car.

"Then Starkweather sped away. 'I had no idea who the fellow was. I only knew that he had a gun and was going to kill me.'"

Spink said he drove into Douglas, later returned the empty rifle to Romer and returned to his home here.

Costume Look For Girls In The New Fashions For This Spring

Spring fashions for the young fry take their cue from the adult world once again. Styles for 1958 include slim, high fashion chemise types even for the tiny tot, full silhouettes, plenty of nautical flavor and the multi-part outfit.

Girls and sub-teens like the costume look that results when an outfit combines two and even three pieces. Many of the new designs do. Some of the jackets are fitted and end at the waist, line, others have a Chanel influence with straight, boxy lines usually accented by a narrow skirt.

QUALITY COMBINATION

Macaroni and cheese is a combination packed with good quality proteins, perfect for Lenten meals. Like most cheese dishes, it tastes all the better with the addition of a generous measure of ripe olive wedges.

Skating Party Enjoyed By The Beaux & Belles

With the signal 'All Skate', Beaux and Belles rolled forth merrily toward a gay time at Kalo's Arena. The Seventh Grade Fun Club lived up to its name and had a barrel of fun at their first party of the year.

Jean Hill skated off with first prize for best girl skater, while Herb Kilpatrick took first prize for best boy skater. Gay Hargrove and Mike Haddad teamed up for first prize in the couples contest and Pat Plummer and Billy Works were awarded prizes for sportsmanship.

Doughnuts and soft drinks were served to the group by Mrs. Louis Hall and Mrs. Harold Vaughan.

DAR Medals To Be Awarded To Essay Winners

The Abram Morehouse Chapter, DAR, is celebrating the James Monroe B-Centennial year with a Vaughn, Billy McNeer, Joyce school project, by encouraging pupils of the high schools of the parish to write essays on some phase of James Monroe's administration. DAR medals will be awarded at the end of the year to the first, second and third place winners.

The winning essay will be sent to the state DAR historian and will enter the national contest if chosen as best in the state of Louisiana.

The DAR organization is divided into eight divisions in the United States and each of the eight division winners in the nation will receive a medal from the James Monroe Memorial Foundation with a grand prize for the outstanding essay among the final eight entrants.

Mrs. James Madison is chairman for the chapter and also planned and promoted a public parade program by the chapter which was given by Miss Millicent Brodnax.

The chapter will also give a medal at the end of the year to the most outstanding history student in the seventh grades at Colington, Mor Rouse, Oak Ridge, Beckman, Bontia and Bastrop.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Moseley planned the party assisted by Mrs. E. A. Porter, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Leon Noland, Jr., Mrs. Dean McBride, Mrs. Norman L. Huckabee, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Downing who were awarded prizes for chaperoned.

For favors the boys received miniature daggers in leather scabbards and the girls were delighted with delicate china pixies and colorful velvet animals.

Miss Alice Montgomery Feted At Bridge Party

Miss Alice Montgomery, bride-elect of John R. Sims, was feted with a bridge party in the home of Mrs. Joseph S. Guerriero on Glenmar Avenue.

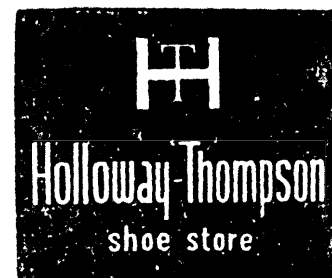

Assisting Mrs. Guerriero with the party was Mrs. Norma Snelling. The honoree wore for the occasion, a black velvet skirt with a jeweled white sweater. Black accessories and rhinestone earrings completed her costume.

Camellia arrangements were artfully placed in the living room and playroom where guests were received.

Participating in the three tables of bridge with the honoree and hostesses were Mrs. Pat Merriam, Mrs. Leora Lacy, Mrs. Barbara Tarver, Mrs. Emma Lou Swain, Mrs. Patsy Moore, Mrs. Betty Jane Cannon, Mrs. Ada Duncan, Mrs. Dene Morrison, Mrs. Mona Tarver, Mrs. Howard Montgomery, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Mitchell Montgomery, aunt of the honoree.

Mrs. A. Turpin Is Hostess To DAR Meeting

When the Abram Morehouse Chapter, Daughters of American Revolution, had their January meeting they had the privilege of hearing a talk on the U. S. forestry program. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Allen Turpin of Bastrop with Mrs. Hadley Leavell, Mrs. J. V. Jones and Mrs. Harold Fink as co-hostesses.

Mrs. Will Gray, program chairman introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Reynolds, of the U. S. Forestry Service, Research Branch, who chose for his topic of discussion "Our Green Treasury." He also showed a film entitled "Everyone's Empire" which gave a graphic demonstration of his talk.

Mrs. J. A. Davenport, chapter regent, led the group in the pledge of allegiance. Mrs. J. V. Jones led the American Creed and Mrs. J. B. Shackelford led in the DAR ritual.

The president - general's message was ably given by Mrs. Duke Shackelford.

Various reports were heard during the business session. Mrs. Hadley Leavell gave a report on "National Defense" work. Mrs. Allen Turpin reported that the following students had been selected to go to Baton Rouge on Feb. 7th to complete for DAR Good Citizen award: Tommie Rea Green from Bastrop, Brenda Clark Ingram from Mer Rouge, Linda Pruitt from Bonita, Joyce Ann Takewell from Collinston and Roxie Green from Oak Ridge.

Mrs. C. N. McDuffie reported on the community service project which was a party held at St. Joseph's Home in Monroe Dec. 14th. She stated that eleven members of the committee and one guest was present and that the Bastrop High Ensemble accompanied them and gave a program on music. Girls taking part in this event were Tommy Thea Green, Charlotte Lowery, Charlotte Anderson, Betty Warren, Priscilla Shams and Betty Amy Leavell. Favors for the ladies and men were presented by the DAR chapter.

Mrs. Allen Turpin was elected as a delegate to the Continental Congress in Washington in April. Mrs. J. B. Shackelford, Mrs. George T. Madison, Mrs. Jack Reilly, and Miss Debbie Pinkston were selected as alternates.

Mrs. E. D. Schneider, state regent of Lake Providence, presided at the coffee service during the social hour.

Mrs. J. Carmey Purdy, Jr. of Lake Providence and Mrs. Arthur Rios of Mobile, Alabama were guests.

Pythian Sisters Install New 1958 Officers

The Monroe Temple No. 1, Pythian Sisters, held installation of new officers in Castle Hall.

The meeting was opened by M. E. C. Louise Fleet, who assisted by Captain Velma Purcell and Co-Captain Callie Crow, installed the following officers:

M. E. C., Beatrice Buelow; M. E. S. Belle Hader; M. E. J. Anita Causey; Secretary, Julia Nettles; treasurer, Alla Ferguson; protector, Velma Purcell; guard, Cecile Parker; pianist, Harriett Thompson; captain degree staff, Anita Causey; installing officer, Louise Fleet.

Following the installation and seating of new officers, officer Louise Fleet gave an interesting lecture.

The meeting closed in due form and members were invited into the dining room where refreshments were served.

Mrs. A. Dawson Speaks To The Woodlawn PTA

Mrs. Audrey Dawson, Home Demonstration agent, was guest speaker at the January meeting of the Woodlawn Elementary P. T. A.

From her several number of years experience working with children, Mrs. Dawson was well qualified to talk on "Social Development and Understanding of Children."

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Maxine Brown. U. C. Cockerell led the group in repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison.

Announcement was made by W. H. Jones' fourth grade.

DEAR ABBY

Stick With Husband, Tell Single Man To Get Lost

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Dear Abby: You see, my husband and I had to get married, I know we're not the only ones that happened to, but my problem is that we have a darling daughter. When she gets old enough she will figure out that she will be six years old in June and we will have been married only six years in January. How can we explain this to her? Worried.

Dear Worried: It's easier to tell your daughter that you will be married in January than to tell her that you will be married in January.

Carolyn Ferguson Celebrates Her 18th Birthday

The G. C. Jeter home was the scene of a party in honor of Carolyn Jo Ferguson on her eighteenth birthday. Co-hosting was Miss LaRue Taylor.

Attending the gala occasion were: Connie Terrell, Wallace Murphy, Carol Simpkins, Ruby Womack, Nelda Hughes, Garvey Gunter, Steve Sharp, Conrad Broomfield, Evelyn Terry.

Gloria Nell Higgs, Coy Nell Higgs, Paul Browning, Alvin Wendt, Kay Sanders, Harry Simmons, Joy Taylor, Elaine Taylor, Don Royett, Ronnie Nolan, David Chandler and Sharon Broomfield.

Mrs. K. A. Wade of the Spring Roundup which will be held February 11, at one o'clock in the afternoon.

Plans were made to serve a chicken and spaghetti supper on Friday, February seventh, in the school cafeteria.

Room count was won by Mrs. W. H. Jones' fourth grade.

birthday. The less said about this, the better, but if you must make an issue of it, pick yourself a nice date in September and celebrate your "anniversary."

Dear Abby: I got attracted to a single man but I am a married woman. He told me to leave my husband and get a divorce because he doesn't care to have anything to do with married women. I told him that my husband could give me everything but love and I had been living without love for twelve years before I met him and didn't want to lose everything on the chance of ending up alone. What I mean to say is this man who I love don't say if he will marry me or not after I leave my husband, but he is all for me leaving my husband. Should I leave him on speculation? Wondering.

Dear Wondering: Stick with your husband and tell the single man to get lost.

Dear Abby: I am a fellow who is 22 years old. I can't help it - I blush all the time. What should I do? Blushing.

Dear Blushing: Think of something else!

Dear Abby: We recently built a home. It was a lifetime dream come true. We live in a lovely neighborhood, but one thing spoils it for us. A family a few doors down has a dog for their little boy. They keep this dog tied up

WORLD TRADE SPEAKERS — Secretary of the Treasury Robert Anderson, William T. Red Trade Expert Hits U.S. Policy

NEW ORLEANS — UP — A Russian trade expert agreed with Louisiana Rep. Hale Boggs that vacillating U. S. trade policies are cutting into the reservoir of good will other nations hold for the United States.

Mikhail N. Gribkov, assistant commercial counselor to the Russian embassy in Washington, said Wednesday the United States, because of its policies, had driven the Middle East and Argentina to trade with the USSR.

Gribkov attended the Mississippi Valley World Trade Conference here, and heard Boggs tell the delegates to the conference that unless sound trade policies with other nations were adopted, more nations would find outlets for their goods with the Soviets.

Boggs is chairman of the house subcommittee on foreign trade.

Gribkov said, "The Argentine wanted U. S. bits to drill for oil. Because of pressures here the U. S. refused to sell them to Argentina. We got the order and filled it."

Turning to the Near East, the Russian said, "We don't try to go into a country and take over the trade from the U. S., yet your government protested that those nations (in the Middle East) had violated some pact by buying goods from us. If they got a better buy from us they were justified in dealing with us."

Gribkov said the Reds were merely conducting their affairs "the same way that any of your businessmen do."

"We put out goods on the market just as you do. If our quality and prices are better, we get the business," he said. "If yours are better, you do."

Gribkov said he was "surprised and shocked" by what he called the anti-Russian tenor of the many talks at the trade conference.

"I don't know what to say about it—just that I was surprised and shocked, but I do think that in the future, trade between our nations will increase."

Church Women Plan World Day Of Prayer

February 21 has been designated by the interdenominational United Church Women of the Twin Cities as a World Day of Prayer, it was announced today.

Twenty-seven representatives of the group met recently to make plans for the annual observance, which is one of the three days set aside by the United Church Women.

The purpose, according to group spokesmen, Mrs. S. L. Walker, is "to unite all Christians in a bond of prayer and to make an offering for Christian missions at home and abroad."

Mrs. W. R. Hatchell, local president of the church women conference, announced the following Day of Prayer services: college area, Memorial Methodist Church, 9 a.m.; northside area, Covenant Presbyterian, 10 a.m.; southside area, St. Alban's Episcopal Church, 3 p.m.; westside area, McGuire Methodist Church, 10 a.m.

The schedule for the evening services will be announced at a later date.

Children's services, under the direction of Mrs. J. M. Smith, will be held in the following churches: college area, Memorial Methodist, 3:15 p.m.; northside, St. Paul's Methodist Church, 3:30 p.m.; southside, First Methodist Church, 4 p.m.; westside, First Methodist Church, 4 p.m.

Mrs. Hatchell urged everyone to attend the service in the most convenient place. Each service will be conducted by women representing various denominations affiliated with the United Church Women.

It was announced that the chapel of the First Methodist Church in Monroe will be open all day for those who cannot attend the scheduled services.

Those who planned the day's program were Mrs. Hatchell, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Aimee Cook, Mrs. L. U. Fourny, Mrs. W. Pomeroy, Mrs. J. E. McNeil, Mrs. C. O. Stadler, Mrs. Harold Rices, Mrs. L. M. Gunter, Mrs. Paul Durbin, Mrs. Victor Kelly, Mrs. Maybell Thompson, Mrs. R. C. Bragg, Mrs. J. O. Massey, Mrs. W. K. Anders, Mrs. DeWitt Milam, Mrs. Thomas Pitt, Mrs. Fagan Cox, Mrs. J. S. Dollar, Mrs. T. I. McDonald, Mrs. Pat Thompson, Mrs. Earl Price, Mrs. Louis Garrison and Mrs. Curtis Shel.

MAIDCO Elects Officers For '58

Members of the board of directors of the Monroe Area Industrial Development Corporation met yesterday afternoon and elected officers for the new year, and outlined a program of work for 1958.

John Sherrouse, Jr., secretary-treasurer of Central Oil and Supply Corporation, was named president, and Richard Hale, general manager of the News-Star-World Publishing Company, was chosen vice president. David C. Silverstein, Monroe businessman, was named secretary-treasurer.

Sherrouse succeeds Howard Griffin to the presidency, and Hale follows Mac Ballard to the vice presidency. Silverstein is a former president of the organization.

Good Prospects

In accepting the presidency, Sherrouse said MAIDCO was entering a year with good industrial prospects. He voiced high hopes for industrial expansion during 1958.

In other action taken, the board of directors approved Koch's national advertising program for 1958 and gave him the okay to order 75,000 paper place mats to be placed in restaurants that cater to tourists.

The board appointed itself as the executive committee so that it may handle policy measures and mapped out plans for conducting a membership campaign in February.

Koch urged the members to make plans to attend the Industrial Development Conference in Baton Rouge February 4th. He extended a public invitation to the conference.

Negro Girl Is Allegedly Kicked At Central High

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — An unidentified white boy reportedly kicked a Negro girl at integrated Central High School yesterday in the latest of a series of racial incidents.

School officials confirmed that an incident had occurred but declined to name the participants.

Others said the Negro girl was 16-year-old Minnie Jean Brown. She is one of the nine Negroes enrolled at Central High, where federalized Arkansas National Guardsmen still are on patrol during class hours.

School Supt. Virgil T. Blossom said that he had not received a full report on the incident. But he did say that the boy involved had been suspended earlier in the day for scholastic reasons and had gone home.

Blossom said the boy was a member of a car pool and that the incident occurred after he drove to the school to pick up other riders.

Mrs. L. C. Bates, president of the state branch of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said the Negro girl's mother told her that the boy kicked Minnie Jean without provocation. The mother said she witnessed the incident from her automobile as she waited for her daughter to cross the campus.

The Brown girl has been involved in several racial incidents at Central High.

Mrs. Bates said the Browns did not know the boy's identity.

Ross To Answer State Tax Counts

T. M. Ross, owner and operator of Russ' Candy Lounge, 405 Walnut street, Monroe, has been notified to be in court February 10 to answer charges that he failed to pay a general sales tax of $167.19. The alleged failure is said to have occurred between December, 1956, and August of 1957.

FACTORY CHESSE GAME

VIENNA, (UP)—The Czech Communist Party organ Rude Pravo reported today that many workers at the Pilsen locomotive factory play chess on the job instead of working. Noting that production at the plant sank 19 per cent last year and that foreign customers were getting impatient for long delayed orders, the paper said "employees at the Lenin works in Pilsen sometimes play chess for many hours when they should be at work."

Dick Jolissant May Run For Council Post

Without making a definite commitment, R. C. "Dick" Jolissant, owner and operator of Twin City Welding Co., has indicated he "may possibly be" a candidate for alderman of West Monroe in the April primary. He told friends yesterday he would decide definitely "within the next few days" whether or not he will seek the position.

Jolissant served as alderman from 1950-54 and was acting mayor for a period after C. C. Bell, Jr., resigned the post.

Loy Heard and Ben Farmer indicated earlier this month they would seek election to the board of aldermen. Four of the present councilmen, Alton Burkett, C. E. Ponder, Amos Hood and Roy Cash are planning to seek re-election. Mayor J. Allan Norris has stated he will seek re-election, and to date no other person has announced candidacy.

MOVIE MEMOS

Carson, Morgan Teaming Again

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Jack Carson and Dennis Morgan, who co-starred in a dozen comedies during the '40s, are re-teaming for a new movie—but Carson won't be telling jokes and Morgan won't be singing.

"It's a psychological western," explains Carson, "I'm writing the story myself."

"We're doing a serious drama because personally, I never thought I was a very funny guy. And Dennis never was a comedian."

Both boys have been playing it straight of late, working only spasmodically.

Two Starred

In their salad days they starred in a series of happy-go-lucky pictures called "Two Guys From . . ."—Texas and Milwaukee were a couple of the places. But for the past two years they've been "Two guys from nowhere." Morgan has been in semi-retirement while Jack worked in a few TV shows.

Neither is worried about the inactivity. They spend their free time at Lakeside Golf Club—across the street from Warner Brothers, their old studio.

"Dennis is my best friend," Carson continued. "We've known one another since we were kids in Milwaukee. I remember when I first went into vaudeville he wanted to join my act. I told him we didn't need a singer."

"Four years later I was playing fleabag theaters in Chicago, and he was the toast of the town singing at the Palomar House."

"I came to Hollywood shortly after Dennis did, and we both signed up with Warner Brothers."

Jack explained his long layoff, saying he was "laying back for pay, TV." He said Dennis had turned down many offers for TV and pictures because "he was waiting for the right thing to come along."

"This picture—titled 'No Longer Men'—is exactly what we both want to do. We talked about making a television series together, but rejected the idea because the cost would be too high."

Farm Bureau Backs Higher Cotton Acreage

ALEXANDRIA (Special) — The Louisiana Farm Bureau Cotton Advisory Committee, meeting at the Hotel Dearly here yesterday, voiced opposition to the short-range cotton program for 1958, but did favor administrative efforts to increase the cotton acreage for 1958.

The committee announced support of the long-range cotton program which was originally developed in Louisiana and which— with some minor changes— has been adopted by the American Farm Bureau Federation.

The program now adopted calls for an acreage increase of at least 20 per cent in 1958 with price support pegged at 90 per cent of the price for the past three years.

This marks the first time that a major farm organization has abandoned the party concept of price support. The committee members commented that the proposed price support of 90 per cent of the last three years' price average would be much more realistic.

In other action the committee directed the staff to prepare legislative proposals authorizing increasing expenditures of broader research in cotton. The board aims for an experimental farm plus a gin where breeders could work toward developing cotton specially designed for Louisiana's growing conditions. This would also be more suitable to cotton buyers.

The committee raised the question whether the National Cotton Council should enter the legislative field, pointing out that its states' rights were research and promotion of cotton.

Paul Ransom of Monroe is chairman of the Cotton Advisory Committee.

Price Tags Don't Cover Production Expense—Curtice

WASHINGTON (AP) — General Motors President Harlow H. Curtice said today that the higher price tags on its 1958 model cars fail to cover the increased cost of production.

"For every dollar of increase in our own costs," he said, "price has increased only 60 cents."

Curtice was called before the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee after two days of testimony by Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers.

Car Buyers

The GM president told the subcommittee, inquiring into pricing practices in the automobile industry, that "increased wage costs have been the largest single element in our rising costs."

He said in his prepared statement that he found it somewhat difficult to reconcile Reuther's "professed concern over inflation" with his announced 1958 collective bargaining program.

The UAW has proposed, as part of its goal, a plan under which workers and car buyers would share in the profits of the automobile manufacturers.

Reuther contended that wages have lagged behind productivity and profits and that his profit-sharing plan would help to overcome what he called an imbalance in the economy by increasing purchasing power.

Unrealistic

While Curtice made no direct reference to the UAW's recently unveiled profit-sharing plan, he rapped Reuther's proposal of last year that the Big Three auto makers—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler—agree to cut 1958 model prices by $100.

He called the proposal "completely unrealistic" and said he thought it was obvious that was "just another public relations job."

In return for the proposed price cut, he said, Reuther had offered only to take it into consideration in making contract demands this year.

Reuther told newsmen during a recess in the hearing that if the auto companies agreed to cut car prices $100, as the UAW had proposed, the union would drop the price rebate to purchasers which it called for as part of its profit-sharing plan.

House Of Dior Triumphs With Sack Creation

PARIS (UP) — The House of Dior triumphed today in the most faithful showing of its history—the young designer Yves Saint-Laurent, 21, fully measured up to his late master with a wildly applauded "trapeze line" that meant the sack dress is here to stay.

The line, sackier than any sack so far, breaks straight from the armpits to the knees. The hobble skirt shown by other designers in the current spring fashion season was out as far as Saint-Laurent was concerned.

And Saint-Laurent was in as far as the world's fashion writers were concerned. They gave his swooping models round after round of applause that shook the crystal chandeliers overhead.

After the show the writers crowded in and showered the blushing youngster with kisses.

Thus Saint-Laurent showed he was qualified to succeed to the throne of fashion czar Dior who died last fall after dictating women's fashions for 10 heady years.

He did so not by compromising the extreme sack of last season with buttons, bows and slightly fitted waists as the other designers have done this week.

Last season's sack, or potato sack, was out. This was the sexiest sack in town.

$122,000 JOB

KANSAS CITY (AP)—City authorities reported it has cost about $122,000 to clear last week's 15-inch snowfall from the streets.

Ponder, Amos Hood and Roy Cash are planning to seek re-election. Mayor J. Allan Norris has stated he will seek re-election, and to date no other person has announced candidacy.

Syrian Pursuit Mothers Prepare Of Merger Means Turmoil

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Syria's desperate-looking pursuit of union with Egypt promises new turmoil in the Middle East, but for the two countries it may also be a measure of mutual self-protection.

The development is puzzling in many ways. There is much justification for speculation that the extremists of Syria hope and intend to rekindle the flames of pan-Arab nationalism in Iraq, Jordan and Lebanon.

The same consideration could be behind the apparent acceptance of the idea by Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser. But there seems to be more to the picture than just that.

In reports from Damascus and Cairo, sketchy as they have been on the detailed plans for this union, there are many overtones of worry.

Syria Willing

Union of Syria and Egypt, apart from its aim of electrifying the Arab East's nationalists and bringing heavier pressures against other Arab governments, also implies a measure of insurance both for Egypt and Syria against growing Communist influence in those areas.

A light in the window or a porch light turned on between 7-8 p.m. anywhere in Ouachita Parish tomorrow will indicate the occupants have donations ready to be picked up by workers for the Mother's March on Polio.

More than 2,000 mothers will participate in the house to house canvass throughout this parish. The drive is also being conducted in 31 other parishes in Louisiana, and throughout the nation.

Mrs. Paul Blackmon, chairman of the Ouachita Parish Mothers' March, stressed that the March "will assure continuation of March of Dimes research, professional education and rehabilitation for thousands of polio patients."

Will Leave Card

The volunteer workers will also leave a postcard, urging the use of Salk vaccine, at each home. This card is for convenience in taking the first step to receiving inoculations. It can be mailed to the family physician, and requests an appointment to receive the vaccine.

Mrs. Blackmon noted that although the percentage of those stricken by polio has dropped considerably since the Salk vaccine has been used, many patients who became ill in past years still need attention.

"In 16 parishes throughout Louisiana," she revealed, "85 per cent of the money collected during the 1957 drive was needed for patients stricken before 1957. Only 15 per cent was spent on those who became ill last year."

Redmen Stage Comeback To National Rate

STILL PARALYZED

Campy Showing Slight Gains

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

Two of the nation's three top individual scorers and its only remaining unbeaten team see action tonight when the college basketball schedule starts to pick up after mid-year exams.

Oscar Robertson will be trying to lead the water-dunking scoring lead over Wilt Chamberlain when Cincinnati opposes Miami of Ohio while Elmer Baylor, third in the scoring race, tries to keep pace in Seattle's meeting with Portland.

Robertson, the sensational sophomore enters the game with an average of 22.7 points a contest. He has collected for 443 points in 15 games.

Chamberlain is second in the scoring race with 209 points in 12 games for a 32.4 average. He could take over first place if Robertson is stopped cold tonight or he could slip back to third if Baylor has a great night.

Baylor has scored 393 points in 13 games for a 30.23 average.

Sharing the spotlight with the three-way scoring duel is St. John's meeting with the University of Pittsburgh. The New York Redmen, staging a fine comeback to national stature under the leadership of ex-Celtic ace Joe Lapchick, have scored nine straight victories.

The fact is, however, the Redmen are largely untested against top-ranked opposition and the experts figure they will lose two or three of their next four games—against Pittsburgh, Temple, Brooklyn College and West Virginia.

A not-too-tall but rugged squad, St. John's No. 1 problem tonight will be to handle Don Hennon, Pitt's 5-foot, 8-inch sharpshooter who is averaging 26 points a game.

Kentucky, the country's 10th-ranked team, whipped Georgia, 74-55, 15th-ranked Dayton downed Xavier of Ohio, 74-59, and Notre Dame, tied for No. 19, beat Louisville, 73-53, in the top games Wednesday night.

In other games, Lehigh beat Muhlenberg, 66-64, Manhattan defeated City College of New York, 74-58, New York University triumphed over Fordham, 90-73, Duquesne tripped St. Francis of New York, 66-58, and Army toppled Siena, 76-66.

Holiday Inn Drops Clover Leaf Keglers

The Holiday Inn Hotel team shared the night's honors with no one as they trampled Clover Leaf Dairy four points to none and regained first place in the Ladies' League standings.

Holiday's Ethel Lancaster burned up the alleys with a mighty 235 game chalking up a new seasonal record. Her 53 series, tops for the night, paced her teammates as they rolled a 902 for high team game and the best total pin count of 2,469.

Norma Brown posted a 205-534 for Clover Leaf.

Medical Arts Pharmacy blanked Howard Griffin four to none. Pearl McNicol tallied a 155-499 for the drugists. Fannie Fontana's 150 and Pearl Loftin's 410 teamed for Howard Griffin.

Howard Brothers Jewelers picked up three points at the expense of People's Homestead. Cassie McMurry tossed a 158 single and Clydene Parker rolled a 438 for the winners. Lou Knipping went all the way for People's Homestead with a 163-469.

Ballard's Air Conditioning and Green Brothers Dairy called it even at two points each. Lorraine McNabb's 173 and Peggy Grigsby's 479 were best for Ballard's. Marsha Emmons posted a 177 and Faye Southall a 460 for the dairy.

Spatafora's Pharmacy and Lennon Motors also fought to a two-point draw. For Spats it was Myrtle Draughn's 187 game and Ore Lee Johnston's 501 series. Dot Durham's 166 and Vera Palmich's 445 registered high for Lennon's.

Where's He Now?

Dr. Harold C. (Doc) Carlson
Dr. Harold C. (Doc) Carlson, an All-America football star in 1917, found basketball to be his true love in sports and for 31 years coached the game at Pittsburgh. He had some great players at Pitt, too, including the famed Chuck Hyatt and Jordan Oliver, now football coach at Yale. Carlson originated the slogan "win them all" and was known wherever the game was played for his contributions to the rules.

Whatever happened to Doc Carlson? Today, at 63, he is leading a quiet life as a quiet life as the male student health center at the University of Pittsburgh.

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (UP)—Dodger catcher Roy Campanella continued to improve today, but he still hasn't shaken off the paralysis which struck him from chest to toes in an auto accident.

The burly, 36-year-old baseball veteran has regained some feeling in his hands, arms and upper chest.

The hospital also said there had been an indication of strength and some movement in his hands. But his legs remained paralyzed.

He still is on the critical list.

Campanella, three times the National League's Most Valuable Player with the Brooklyn Dodgers, was injured early Tuesday. His car skidded, but a telephone pole turned over.

Campanella suffered a broken neck. He has been in a form of traction since a 42-hour operation to relieve pressure on a nerve.

PHOENIX OPEN

Casper Defends Tourney Crown

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP)—Round Billy Casper, one of the world's greatest money winners in professional golf, defended his title today in an event which was the first of the $15,000 Phoenix Open tournament—a tourney noted for two time winners.

No one has been able to repeat in tournaments so far in the short span of the 1958 winter tour, but it has happened many times before.

Ed (Porky) Oliver won here two years hand running in 1939-40; Ben Hogan won in 1946 and 1947; Jimmy Demaret in 1949-50; and Lloyd Mangrum in 1952-53.

Baseball Is Labor Of Love To Campy

This is the second of three dispatches tracing the career of Roy Campanella.

By MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK (UP)—Some say baseball is a sport and others claim it's a business, but Roy Campanella always looked on it as a labor of love.

"Man, how can you ever get tired doing something you love?" Campy would pipe up in that shrill soprano voice of his whenever anyone questioned him about overwork.

The chunky receiver broke into organized baseball with a bang in 1946 when he smashed a homer his first time up with Nashua, N.H., of the New England League. Before the season was through, Campanella hit 13 home runs, batted .290 and drove in 96 runs to win the league's most valuable player award.

"There was a nearby chicken farm up there that gave out 100 chickens for every home run," Campy likes to recall. "Never ate so much chicken in my life."

Campanella also won a promotion to Montreal of the International League in 1947 where he batted .273. Brooklyn called him in 1948, then sent him back to St. Paul of the American Assn. Roy was at St. Paul only a month but during that time he hit 13 homers and batted .325.

Campy finally was brought up and in his first three games against the Giants, he collected nine hits in 12 times up. Two of those hits were homers.

This writer talked to Campanella and here is what he said:

"I'm not the kind of person who likes to set too big a goal for himself. So if I can make good with Brooklyn—which I believe I can—I'd like to buy a home for my family. That's something I've wanted a long time, just a nice home somewhere in the suburbs."

Campanella worked hard and got that home in Glen Cove, Long Island, the same one he was driving to when tragedy struck early Tuesday morning.

Next to his wife, Ruth, and his six children, Campy's home is his proudest possession. Located on a beach, the house has four bedrooms and three baths.

Anyone visiting the house is sure to see the three plaques Campanella was awarded for being voted the National League's most valuable player in 1951, 1953 and 1955.

Campanella hit his peak with the Dodgers in 1953 when he drove in 142 runs, hit 41 homers and batted .312. Hampered by a hand injury—one of many he has suffered during his 10-year career with the Dodgers—he slumped to .207 in 1954.

There were those who thought his baseball career was about finished then but he underwent an operation and came out of it with glowing spirits.

"Shake hands with the most valuable player of 1955," Campy said to all his friends during the winter of 1954.

They thought he was trying to buoy up his own spirits but he hit the nail squarely on the head. He drove in 107 runs in 1955, hit 32 homers and batted .318 to walk off with his third MVP award. In addition, he had the added satisfaction of performing on Brooklyn's first world championship team in history when the Dodgers beat the Yankees in the 1955 World Series.

(Friday: Campanella's feelings about baseball.)

Carroll Bowls 630 Series For Night's High

In Kegler League play this past week Clover Leaf Farms pounced off a three point win over McKenzie Sport Shop. Mutt Carroll and Sonny Durham led the attack with "600" series. Mutt firing a 224-189 and 217 for 630 and Sonny putting together games of 170-209 and 224 for a 603 total.

Mack Taylor had himself a good night for McKenzie registering a 208 game and 582 series.

Al Knipping led the "66" Oilers to a three point win over Troy and Nichols. Al bowled 108-203 and 209 for an even "600" series.

Bill Hance topped Troy and Nichols scoring with a 167-470.

Jax Beer strengthened its hold on first place by whipping A. and C. Music four points to none. Larry Duce tossed a 194 game and Bud Lyons a 529 series to lead the high flying Jax team.

Jerry Higgins with a 207 game and 344 series headed A. and C. scoring.

Roy Connell and Herman Guldage teamed to lead them seven to a three point win over Friendly Finance. Roy posted a 202 game and Herman a 316 series.

Homer McMurray went all the way for Friendly Finance with a 212 game and 536 series.

Pan-Am and the Cats battled to a two point draw of their four points. Robert Creighton with a 193 game and 535 series led Pan-Am.

Reece with a 189 game and Joe Marsala with a 498 series were the top bowlers for the Cats.

A PEEK AT THE PREPS

With Bob Anderson

OBSERVATIONS

We read a very interesting article the other day concerning the relative appeal of college football and basketball. The writer pointed out that football has a national appeal while basketball interest is basically regional. In other words, most any sports fan can speak intelligently about Notre Dame or Oklahoma's grid prospects but we doubt if even one out of ten athletic enthusiasts could name a member of West Virginia's basketball team, the nation's best.

This theory holds in high school sports as well as college. Among the professional sports, baseball is still king but among the amateurs, and we use the word loosely, football is boss. High school and college baseball, although increasing in importance and popularity and likely to continue to do so, are still strictly minor league at the great majority of schools.

Basketball, although the top spectator sport, doesn't have the national appeal of football for the same reason it draws the most spectators—there are a lot of teams, too many to get the play in the papers that football teams get.

How many good high school basketball teams or players have you heard of outside your own section of the state? Not many. But you did hear about Wendell Harris, the Baton Rouge halfback and perhaps a few New Orleans or Lake Charles griders. When we were at Baton Rouge, we heard about the high school exploits of Red Brodnax before we ever heard of Bastrop. A kid who can play football well is going to be pretty well known by the time he's out of high school.

Once in a while a high school cager of exceptional ability comes along like Bob Pettit or Jackie Moreland that catches the public's eye. Wilt Chamberlain was not only the talk of Pennsylvania but a national celebrity while still a high school junior. But cases of this sort are as rare as Chamberlains.

Football will continue to be "the game" because, besides being thrilling to watch and play, it's a big production in which a lot of people take part, not just the players. The bands, cheerleaders, pep squads, marching groups, majorettes, etc., all contribute to make a football game, any game, a big spectacle.

Frankly, we're crazy about football. All the rest are great and we like them, too. But when September rolls around, the boom of a punt, the crunch of a tackle and the roar of the crowd are like the day's first drinks to a set, they satisfy.

Sides, then we only have to cover one football game a week, not two basketball games in one night.

A LITTLE LIGHT ON TENNIS

One must always crusade in this business, or so we were told in journalism school, so here we launch our first.

Being, besides a football fanatic, a sometimes participant in the grand but fading sport of tennis, we've noticed that Monroe has no lighted tennis courts. This doesn't touch a sore spot with us since we rarely get off at night and then try to spend the evening doing things not usually connected with athletics.

However, the lucky racket-wielder who works in the daytime should have a place to play tennis at night. It would give him an opportunity to indulge in his favorite sport more often and without the danger of sunstroke.

H. W. McSherry, city commissioner of finance and utilities, said plans were discussed last summer for erecting lights on the city's courts but it never came to pass. Let's hope they get them up this year before the season is upon us.

Dean Wiggins, Sicily Island's all-state and honorable mention all-American halfback, is said to be planning to attend Copiah-Lincoln Junior College in Wesson, Miss., next fall. He's currently a scholastic junior and would finish high school in the junior college's high school division while playing some good football. . . The Optimist Club will not sponsor the Babe Ruth League this summer and plans to boost a boys' camp instead.

AT TECH

Frye, Small Man, Makes Fine Record

RUSTON, La. (Special) — Charles Frye, shortest player on Louisiana Tech's basketball roster, proves there is still a place for the little guy in college basketball.

The Pittsburg, Tex., junior student, who stands 5-11, currently tops the Bulldog team in free throw percentage and he is right near the top in field goal accuracy. In 16 contests this winter, Frye has averaged 12 points per game and is Tech's second best. Frye, who is the team captain, has an excellent eye for the basket and has dropped in 58 out of 72 free throws attempted this winter to ring up a very good 80 percent in that department. He has also made good on 67 field goals in 170 shots for a 39 percentage in field goals made.

One of Frye's favorites is the jump shot and the Texan has done plenty of damage with it this season. His best scoring effort so far this season was 23 points racked up against Kentucky Wesleyan. In that game, which Tech won 85-63, he hit on 8 of 11 field goals and on 7 of 8 free throws. In the Carrousel Tournament Frye chalked up 21 points to help the Bulldogs upset strong University of Tennessee in the semi-finals.

A good ball handler, Frye is a valuable playmaker for the Canine squad which makes him an all-around asset to the team. He has been a starter in all of Tech's games this season.

The little Bulldog guard is a physics major and has racked up just an excellent scholastic record as he has a cage record at Tech. Frye has maintained almost an "A" average in his studies.

A graduate of Farmland (Ind.) High School, Frye once set an Indiana high school scoring record when he pumped in a whopping 64 points in one battle.

This week Frye and his fellow Techsters have only one game on tap, a non-conference tussle Saturday night against Mississippi Southern at Hattiesburg, Miss. Southern at Hattiesburg, Miss. Two Gulf States Conference tilts

TONIGHT

Fort Necessity, Grayson Tangle

FORT NECESSITY, La. (Special) — Fort Necessity boys and girls basketball teams will host the Grayson High School teams at the Fort gym tonight.

The boys' basketball teams of Grayson and Fort Necessity are rated as two of the top high school teams in the state. They have met once before this year, and the Fort boys squeezed out a 52 to 50 win in the finals of the Fort Necessity Tournament.

Grayson's ace is their center, Jimmy Legg, who has been getting an average of 30 points per game. The Grayson team has won 24 and lost four. They won the Chatham and Sikes tournaments and placed second at Fort Necessity and Harrisonburg.

High scorer for Fort Necessity is Milton Linder, 6'3" junior forward, with an average of 20 points per game. He is followed closely by A. J. Burlew, 6'4" junior center, with 16 points, and Grady Jones, 5'11" senior guard, with 16 points. Other members of the team are Rastus Massey, 5'11" senior guard; James Taylor, 6'3" freshman forward; and Paul Knox, 6'2" senior, who plays center. Linder, Burlew and Jones were all-district last year, and Linder was also all-state.

Coach Alton "Fox" Johnston's

Northwestern Coach Given Weekly Honor

LAKE CHARLES, La. (Special) — Undefeated Northwestern, rising rapidly in Gulf States Conference cage circles, won another triumph by furnishing the GSC's "Coach of the Week" and "Player of the Week" in the balloting conducted by the Lake Charles American Press.

Huey Cranford, a Louisiana Tech alumnus who took over the Northwestern coaching reins from C. F. Thomas this year, was picked "Coach of the Week" in the poll of the circuit's cage coaches. Cranford guided his Demons to a 66-60 conquest of Louisiana Tech last week, handing the popular favorites in the GSC race their third straight setback.

It was a decisive defeat. Cranford devised a defensive alignment that held high-scoring Jackie Moreland, Tech's 6-foot-8 center, to 10 points, lowest mark of the season for the big fellow.

In addition, Northwestern's Jimmy Leach was picked as "Player of the Week." Leach scored 19 points for the Demons in their conquest of Tech, and played a smooth floor game.

SLI's Beryl Shipley, whose Bulldogs belted Northeast State for their second GSC victory in three starts, was the only other coach mentioned in the balloting.

In addition to Leach, two other Northwestern players — Bobby Wicker and Phil Haley — gained nominations for outstanding defensive play against Louisiana Tech. Wicker, who led SLI to its triumph over Northeast, was also nominated for top player honors.

It was the second week during which McKellar received mention for the top player award. A senior guard, McKellar turned in a 19-point scoring job against Northeast, and had an outstanding floor game.

South Monroe Meets Bastrop Here Tonight

South Monroe Junior High meets Bastrop's juniors in a boys and girls basketball double header tonight at 7 o'clock at South Monroe gymnasium.

Coach Clyde Perkins announced the probable lineup for South Monroe as:

Boys — Gary Gannaway, Kelton Dubois, Frank Smith, Grady Hudson, Bernard Bryant.

Girls — Sue Warlick, Libby Snapp, Gen Dickerson, Carolyn Courson, Connie Courson, and Sandra Leavitt.

Cage Tourney Opens Today At Enterprise

ENTERPRISE, La. (Special) — Enterprise High School opens its annual invitational basketball tournament here this afternoon with twenty area teams scheduled to see action before the championship finals roll around Saturday night.

Contending teams come from Sicily Island, Davidson of St. Joseph, Harrisonburg, Central of Delhi, Kelly, Columbia, Central of Book, Block of Jonesville, LaSalle, of Olla, and Enterprise, all of which are entering both boys and girls' combinations.

The tournament schedule: Today — Block girls vs. Central of Book, 4:15; Kelly boys vs. Central of Book, 5:30; Harrisonburg girls vs. Sicily Island, 6:45; Enterprise boys vs. Sicily Island, 8 p.m.

Tomorrow — Columbia boys vs. Kelly - Central winner, 11:30 a.m.; Davidson girls vs. Columbia, 12:45 p.m.; Davidson boys vs. Enterprise Sicily Island winner, 2 p.m.; LaSalle girls vs. Kelly, 3:15; Central of Delhi girls vs. Block - Central of Book winner, 4:30; Enterprise boys vs. Central of Delhi, 6:45; Enterprise girls vs. Harrisonburg - Sicily Island winner, 7 p.m.; LaSalle boys vs. Block, 8:15.

Saturday — Girls semi - finals, 10 and 11:20 a.m.; boys semi - finals, 12:40 and 2 p.m.; girls' consolation, 4 p.m.; boys' consolation, 5:30; girls' final, 6:40; boys' final, 8 p.m.

Bulldogs Will Begin Spring Drills Tuesday

RUSTON, La. (Special) — Spring football practice at Louisiana Tech will get underway Tuesday at 3 p.m. and will continue for about four weeks.

Joe Aillet, Tech athletic director and head coach, reports that the Bulldog griders will spend much of the spring practice period on basic fundamentals.

The Canine coaches will be especially interested in the action of the youngsters on the squad as there will have to be a number of holes filled as the result of personnel missing from the co-championship team of last fall.

Four senior players completed their eligibility last season. Also missing from spring practice will be guard Doyan Foster of El Dorado, Ark. A first stringer last season, Foster has suffered a detached eye retina and will undergo treatment.

This is the second Tech athlete this year to have a detached retina. Raymond Germany, Tech's All - Gulf States Conference basketball center of last year, underwent surgery in the fall for a similar ailment and has not been able to participate in basketball this season.

Last fall the Tech footballers completed the season with a 6-4 won - loss record in all games and with a 4-1 GSC mark to share the conference crown with McNeese State and Northwestern State.

U.S. IN SPEED SKATE HELSINKI, Finland (UP)—The United States and South Africa have entered the world speed skating championships to be held at the Helsinki Olympic Stadium, Feb. 15-16, giving the tournament teams from 19 nations.

Jackson Urges Big Spurt In Bomber Output

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) today urged a big spurt in bomber production as one of the "things we need to do immediately to stay alive."

Jackson, a frequent critic of administration defense policies, also called for a quick stepup in production of long-range missiles and nuclear submarines capable of firing such missiles. He said the Army should be built up.

In a speech prepared for the Senate, Jackson said the United States has lost "our two precious allies in past wars — time in which to mobilize, and distance to protect our homeland."

"Today whatever force is required, either to deter war or to win it if deterrence fails, must be on hand — ready at all times," he said.

Jackson did not make clear in his speech whether he felt additional funds for such an accelerated program should be included in a $1,410,000,000 emergency defense money bill now pending, or whether he had in mind adding to the regular defense appropriations bill for the fiscal year starting July 1.

It was reported that Senate Democratic leaders decided not to try to increase the total of the emergency bill, which has passed the House and now is before the Senate Appropriations Committee. That bill is for the present fiscal year.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas was understood to have told his party colleagues he believes it would be unwise to seek any additions to the emergency bill. Johnson reportedly said such an effort might delay Senate action on the bill by opening to debate the whole defense structure.

Thus, any major effort to increase defense funds apparently will be made later in the session when the Senate takes up the administration's 20-billion-dollar request for the coming fiscal year. That bill still is before the House Appropriations Committee.

The national Congress of Parents has existed for 61 years. It sponsored hot school lunches and traffic safety programs.

FESTIVAL SALAD - Winter Festival Salad is a dish that appeals as a lift for winter meals.
THURS. N-S FOOD with Story 3A-2 Sardine Surprise

Festival Salad Adds Meal Appeal

Here's a regular handy-Andy of a dish... for look what you can do with Winter Festival Salad.

You can turn it into the mainstay for lunch or supper by filling the center with cottage cheese and garnishing with stuffed eggs and olives. Or you can take it, simple and unadorned, cut it down in thick wedges and pass as a cool, crisp relish with meat. Or make in individual molds, turn out on lettuce and serve as a vegetable salad.

Possibilities plus, you see, and every last one good vigorous eating.

For this is a mold crammed with sturdy, winter vegetables... with sweet flowerets of raw cauliflower, with shredded carrots, bits of celery and minced onion, all blended in tangy canned apple sauce, then seasoned to eagerness, and jellied. Each bite is fresh, tasty. And in a season of heavier, richer foods, this raw vegetable mold offers a stimulating lift, a fresh lightness to meals.

You'll discover, too, that it's easy to make. The canned apple sauce provides the needed body to hold the vegetables as well as adding its own spark of flavor. And directions are simple:

16 Parchman Inmates Given Their Freedom

JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 29 (UP)—Paroles for 16 Parchman prison inmates, including three serving terms on murder convictions, were announced yesterday by the State Probation and Parole Board.

The board said all parolees have a sponsor, employment and other rehabilitation plans. Community investigations have resulted in favorable reports on the prisoners, the board said.

Those paroled, county of conviction, offense, and term:

Negroes: Elvie Fortenberry, Marion, murder, life; Ora Lee Cox, Issaquena, manslaughter, 10 years; Edward Briggs, DeSoto, manslaughter, 5 years; Edward Granberry, Hinds, manslaughter, 8 years; Macie Lee Veal, Coahoma, manslaughter, 7 years; Hosea Youngblood, Walthall, manslaughter, 15 years; Marshall Mayberry, Adams, manslaughter, Archie Due Bennett, Winston, assault and battery, 3 years; Clarence Howard, Madison, murder, life.

White: Earl Scott, Leflore, robbery with firearms, 15 years; Garland Edmond Neas, Lauderdale, robbery, 17 years; James McElhane, Washington, grand larceny, 3 years; Hollis Eastland, Smith, grand larceny, 5 years; Andrew J. Murry Jr., Hinds, robbery, 10 years; Ellis Gerald, Jones, murder; Tom Bowen, Smith, grand larceny, 5 years.

Establishment Of Space Agency Near

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (UP)—Secretary of Defense McElroy said today the Pentagon's new outer space and weapons unit—the Advanced Research Projects Agency—will be officially set up in a day or two.

"We thought it best to have the agency actually set up before appropriations are voted for it," McElroy said in an interview at the Capitol.

He had just completed a second day of closed-door testimony before the Senate Appropriations Committee. It is considering a $1,410,000,000 emergency money bill aimed at speeding up the missile-satellites and other urgent defense projects.

ARPA, the new agency, will first concentrate on development of an antiballistic-missile missile and outer space projects," McElroy has told Congress.

McElroy also said he is confident that ARPA can cut through the delays and red tape that have slowed other new military projects or systems in the past.

It will start with 10 million dollars of financing, but also has authority to pick up some 28 million from the Army and 29 million from the Air Force, previously voted by Congress last year for the antimissile missile and outer space projects.

Although McElroy testified that he now has ample legal authority to set up ARPA, other than congressional approval for transfer of funds, the House tacked on a rider to a military authorization bill specifically authorizing the agency.

The Senate Armed Services Committee, after talking with McElroy and Pentagon lawyers, eliminated the rider as not germane.

McElroy said ARPA would be officially set up before its director, expected to be a top military scientist, is appointed.

He also has ample authority to employ 25 scientists and technicians at special high-pay rates for ARPA. The House approved this, and the Senate is expected to do the same.

McElroy was reported in authoritative circles today to be scheduled for greatly increased power, under the administration's tentative recommendations for reorganization of the Defense Department.

As things now stand, the defense chief has little say in the control of military funds, once they have been appropriated by Congress. For example, Gen. Lucius Clay, retired, pointed out that the secretary now could cancel a missile project he found unwise, but could not shift its funds to another service developing another missile with more promise.

Criticism of the present defense research set-up was voiced by Clifford C. Furnas, who was an assistant secretary under former Secretary of Defense Wilson. Furnas is now president of the University of Buffalo. He testified before a House Government Operations subcommittee.

For one thing, Furnas said the assistant secretary for research can say no to a program but he cannot initiate any positive action.

"That," Furnas said, "is a poor way to run a railroad—or a research and development program."

Cagers Prep To Rock 'n' Roll

BECKLEY, W. Va. — (UP)—Beckley College basketball coach Bill Bowman set up a record player to produce rock-and-roll sounds during his team's practice sessions.

Bowman said the music keeps the players from feeling tired and also keeps them relaxed.

Results of the experiment, Bowman hopes, will tend to give the Hawks a speedy offense "which will outrun our opponents."

Sprinkle chopped or sliced almonds over brownies before baking. When baked and cooled, cut in generous squares, and top with ice cream. Add a drizzle of chocolate syrup if calories don't worry you.

Four Workmen Die As Platform Falls To Ground

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (UP)—A construction platform collapsed and fell 85 feet yesterday at the Texas Company Refinery, killing four workmen and seriously injuring seven others.

The platform, being used to transfer materials to a catalytic cracking unit under construction, was reported to have crushed to death three men working underneath in a tin-roofed shed. The cause of the accident was not immediately known.

The dead were identified as John N. Maudlin, 21, of Port Neches; Lester G. Edwards, 39, of Gilmore, La.; Douglas Jefferson, of Silsbee, Tex.; and Ferdinand Gengras, of Toronto, Canada.

None Critically Injured
Seven injured workers were taken to St. Mary's Hospital. Hospital authorities released two of them after treatment and said none of the others was in critical condition.

The workmen were employed by M. W. Kellogg Co. in construction of a cracking unit for production of high octane gasoline.

J. E. Welsh of Port Acres, a carpenter foreman for M. W. Kellogg Co., said the collapsing structure sounded like an "avalanche" as it fell.

Fell 85 Feet
"The platform collapsed and everything on it fell 85 feet," he said.

Welsh said the platform became hung and was suspended about halfway down from the 85-foot level, and steel rigging and pipe tumbled down on the workmen's shed below.

He said the shed "collapsed like a piece of paper. I pulled three men out and they were dead."

The Texas company refinery is located within the city limits of Port Arthur in the western part of the city.

Cancer's death toll is still a quarter million annually, says the American Cancer Society.

Indian Cows Hit Hard By Dry Weather

PATNA, INDIA — (UP)—More than six million cattle face imminent starvation in the state of Bihar because of a drought dating almost to the last monsoon period.

The monsoon rains brought floods in some areas, particularly along the banks of the Koshi, Behar's "river of sorrow." But larger parts of the state never had even a fraction of the rains that threaten crops in most years.

The state government estimated the loss to the rice crop alone at over 50 per cent.

Behar's food minister told the legislature that "paddy fields in the countryside present a dismal appearance, and our farmers are engaged in a frantic effort to save the fields for the next season."

"But," he added, "sagging stretches of the parched paddy fields at many places are hard to save."

The Praja Socialist party of Behar charged that while the government contends the scarcity of food has not yet precipitated starvation conditions among the people, about 12 million persons are reported to be hit by the food shortage. Not 50 per cent, but 80 per cent of the crops have been lost, this party claimed.

Landry Says Baker's Best For Dandruff-Itchy Scalp
DONALDSONVILLE, La. — Harold P. Landry, 213 Pine St., says: "Baker's Hair Tonic has completely cleared up a bad case of itchy dandruff that had bothered me for a long time. A product that does so well what it is advertised to do should be known throughout the land. It is a pleasure to help spread the good news."

The Maker's Guarantee: Baker's Hair Tonic will do the job on dandruff and itchy scalp. Baker's Lathernat Shampoo will make your hair look better, or Money Back—Adv.

30-Ton Monster Kills For Sheer Pleasure Of It

LOS ANGELES — (UP)—A UCLA zoologist has completed a study that has given him a marked new respect for the killer whale.

This 30-ton monster roams the California coast, making forays into Santa Monica and Monterey Bays.

Dr. Richard Booloolian observed these whales killing cormorants apparently just for the sheer pleasure of killing.

A favorite food of the big marine mammal is the California sea lion. The UCLA scientist once saw a big bull killer whale charge a large inshore rock on which a group of sea lions were sunning. The beast hit the rock with terrific impact, momentarily stunning itself. But it was soon feasting on the sea lions that fled into the water.

"There is no record of a killer whale killing a human being," Dr. Booloolian says. "People just don't stop to argue with them."

A TRICK WORTH TRYING -- Broiled sardine surprise is a trick worth trying -- tasty and economical

Sardine Surprise Economical Snack

Here's a tasty and economical snack you'll want to serve often. It's "Broiled Sardine Surprise," the creation of one of New York's top chefs (Clement Granger, Executive Chef of the fashionable Hotel Ambassador). He recommends this recipe for year round entertaining.

Ingredients
2 English muffins, split
2 (3 1/2 oz.) cans sardines
2 tomatoes, cut in half
4 slices of American cheese
salt, pepper to taste

On each half of muffin broil the tomato halves. Garnish broiled tomato with 5 to 8 whole sardines. Top sardines with slice of American cheese. Place in mod-

Pork Specials Rate As Bargains

By RECA BAMBURG Staff Writer

Take your choice of pork bargains this week end, Mrs. Home-maker, because most groceries are wooing your trade with offers of many specials in smoked hams, fresh picnic pork roast, loin roast and even bacon which was so high in price several months ago. Although most tender vegetables are still scarce and high there are some not so - high, such as lettuce, cabbage, celery, rutabagas, potatoes and onions.

Eggs are still a first rate bargain and although they've gone lower wholesale most retail prices do not yet reflect this. Over and above all this is the insidious battle of the bulge, that continual rise in food prices that keeps the food shopper in a budget sweat from week to week. Food prices went up one - tenth of one per cent in December and wholesale prices rose last week for the fourth straight week.

Makes it harder and harder to convince the man of the house there just aren't enough pennies to go around. Also increases our longing for summer and plenty of cheap, invigorating vegetables.

Ham Heads List

Pork has shown no noticeable change but ham prices this week-end head the list of specials. The shank portion is featured at many stores at the lowest prices, with the butt portion a close second. Center slices will bear a bargain tag at some meat markets.

Grade B bacon is marked down to ease shopping pains. Pork roast at 35 cents a pound represents a judicious buy. And, remember, potatoes, onions and carrots are likewise reasonable in price so there's the making of a roast and vegetable dinner.

Frozen pies are a feature by some neighborhood groceries. Turkeys are featured at some markets and this remains one of the best all - around meat purchases. Broiler - fryers have advanced in price somewhat due to the demand for them and stewing hens, too, are a little higher. Both still are good choices. And many stores still have them featured at the very economical prices enjoyed throughout the winter season.

Citrus Situation

The citrus situation has improved some with higher quality fruit coming out of Florida. Texas oranges are featured again this week end at many stores.

Apples remain in the lead as the best of fruit buys with the Washington Red Delicious pegged down, depending on size. Red grapes still are available; cranberries have almost gone.

Good items from Texas fields include beets, cabbage, carrots, turnips and greens and mustard greens. Celery and lettuce are the manna from California. Pole beans are just coming and priced high. Vine - ripened tomatoes have come all the way from Mexico and prices are skyhigh.

Peppers, yellow squash and egg plant are among those items practically out of sight, both in fact and figure.

Our recipe this week is a party-inspiring Feather Nutmeg Cake submitted by Mrs. Shelby White, Mer Rouge correspondent.

Feather Nutmeg Cake

1/2 cup butter.
1/4 cup shortening.
1 1/2 cup sugar.
3 eggs.
2 cups enriched flour.
1 tsp. baking powder.

1 tsp. soda.
2 tsp. nutmeg.
1 cup buttermilk.
Mix ingredients as usual for cake and bake in three layers. Remove from pans and put following filling on while hot:
6 tablespoons melted butter.
2-3 cup brown sugar.

1/4 cup cream.
1 cup coconut.
1/2 teaspoon vanilla.
Mix above and put 1-3 on each of the three layer. Place each layer as iced under broiler until coconut is slightly brown. Stack and serve. Mrs. White's comment was "delicious."

Lum Duck, an 83-year-old Chinese resident of Victoria B. C., explained his youthful complexion with "No smoke, no drink, and read the Bible every day." He added that he did not retire from hard work on his farm until he was 76 years old.

SPOTLIGHT ON FOOD

By Mildred Swift
LSU Extension Service

Let's give the carrot the 14 carat treatment it deserves. This carrot is one of the most easily available and unpretentious of vegetables. It's in the markets 12 months a year at easy going prices. We can expect a price rise on this vegetable but it's still a bargain. It's pretty and good looking.

Mothers are you overlooking this sure way of giving your family their daily quota of vitamin A? Even a small carrot per person will provide the full amount of this vitamin that is needed for a day. Remember it's the A vitamin which helps build resistance against colds, also, it helps the eyes to adjust from dark to light and light to dark.

The army recognizes the need for vitamin A and serves foods high in this vitamin to boys in the service. Keep carrots scrubbed and ready for eating, handy in the refrigerator. Serve carrot sticks at the table, regardless of the other vegetables and salad in the menu. You'll be surprised how members of the family will nibble on a carrot if it's there in plain view.

Other ideas for cooking this vegetable are: French fried carrot sticks; sautéed carrots in butter or margarine and used as a garnish on meat platters or floating on a cup of hot consommé; shredded and used with bread crumbs to top casserole dishes; carrot and cottage cheese salad; carrots cooked with small, whole onions; sautéed carrots with apples.

Oysters
We've discussed the food value of oysters and we're finding this seafood is higher in price this year and not so plentiful. There comes a time in your life, though, when you just want oysters and nothing will take their place. The answer then is to extend their flavor in a good oyster stew. This one is the best and comes to us through the courtesy of Mrs. Warren Taylor.

Mag's Oyster Stew
1 stick butter or margarine.
1 1/2 pints oysters.
1 quart milk.
1 teaspoon salt.
1/4 teaspoon pepper.
1/2 cup oyster liquor.
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.
1/4 teaspoon tabasco sauce.
1/4 teaspoon celery salt.
1/4 teaspoon onion salt.
1/4 teaspoon garlic salt.
2 teaspoons chopped green onion tops.
Paprika and chopped parsley for topping.

Melt fat — add onion tops, all seasoning and oysters. Cook over low heat until edges of oysters curl. Add hot milk and oyster liquor. Heat. Pour in bowl. Sprinkle chopped parsley and paprika over top. Will serve 6 people.

The Fruit Picture

Florida was on its way to producing the largest citrus crop in years when the freezes and excessive rains set in. Oranges and grapefruit would have been lower in price than last year, but now we can expect a gradual rise as the peak of the harvest season passes. Mrs. Homemaker, compare the price of fresh, frozen and canned fruits and juices. All give the same food value.

Apples and bananas are in good supply. Quality is good. Dried prunes and dates and raisins can be used to supplement fresh fruits in the diet. Prunes are the black jewels of the fruit pantry and chock full of vitamin A and iron.

You'll get a lift on a busy day when you munch a handful of tartly sweet dried prunes.

Prunes right out of the box or bag make a wonderful healthy snack for the children, too, when they rush in for something to nibble on. It is not necessary to cook them. They're mighty good "as is." No need to wash them. They're thoroughly cleaned before packing and sealing. The medium size prune is your best buy. Tenderized prunes do not have to be soaked but you'll pay from six to ten cents per pound more for these. Don't forget the trick of soaking prunes in orange juice if you feel that the family needs a double dip in nutrition. Then eat without cooking.

See you next Thursday afternoon and Friday morning.

Inventor Thomas Edison was born in Milan, Ohio, of Dutch and Scotch ancestry.

TEEN-AGE MAIL

Not Trusted Since She Allowed Boys To Call

By DOROTHY RICKER

Dear Mrs. Ricker:

Last night my parents went out and left me home with my 14-year-old sister and little brother. My sister had a job party sitting so I was ready by myself. I am 15. About 8:45 p.m., three boys came over to see my sister and me. They came here often and my parents know them well and like all but one boy.

They have always told me never to have boys in the house when they are out but I did and the boys stayed about 30 minutes. Now Mom and Dad won't trust me. I've always wanted their trust so please tell me what I can do to get back in their good graces. Phil.

Dear Phil:

I am sure you can understand why your parents were upset when you deliberately disobeyed them. If they broke faith with you, you would have reason to doubt them. I am sure that what you did was wrong and you can't expect Mom and Dad to forget it immediately.

About all you can do is to try to convince them you are sincere. I am sorry for what happened and do everything possible to prove to them you intend to be completely trustworthy from now on.

In the P. S. on your letter you asked that your problem be published on a certain day. I'm sorry Phil, but that is impossible to do. You see, much depends on the number of letters ahead of yours and the amount of space available for the column.

Dear Mrs. Ricker:

I have wonderful parents but there is one thing they do which really disturbs me. They always open my mail and read it before I do. I don't read their mail so why should they read mine? It wouldn't be quite so bad but they always tease me about what my steady writes to me. He is in the Navy. Another thing: I like to have a few private things in my room but they always go in there and nose around in my things. Please tell me what I should do. Do you think they are fair? Normal Teen

Dear Teen:

If parents have reason to believe a youngster is not trustworthy and might possibly be mixed up in questionable activities and with undesirable people — or, if a boy or girl is secretive and uncooperative — then I think a parent is justified in opening his or her mail. Otherwise I think it is usually a case of being just plain nosy.

In a situation like yours, however, where your parents are "wonderful" it may be that Mom and Dad don't really mean to be nosy. Instead, they may not have stopped to realize you are no longer a small child. So, they feel free to do the things you deem private because they did when you were younger.

My advice is to talk this situation over with your parents. If they trust you, I feel certain that they will understand your point of view and agree that you are entitled to some privacy.

"What is Fair Play in Parent-Teen Relationships?" Write for this family quiz by Dorothy Ricker. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope along with your request. Mail to Dorothy Ricker in care of this paper.

Comic Ordered To Stop Singing About Champion

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Night club comedian Bozo St. Clair has been ordered not to sing about cowboy star Gene Autry's horse Champion.

Federal Judge Joe Ingraham ordered St. Clair, night club owner, to stop singing about the horse because it was a trademark of the Western Music Publishing Co. because of a song recorded in 1953.

Autry's petition said St. Clair recorded a song entitled "Old Gene Artery" in 1953 and the record was sold at the Town Lounge. It said the song made use of profane language and infringed on the copyright of Autry's theme song, "Back in the Saddle Again." The suit sought a total of $5,250 damages.

Ingraham's order enjoins the defendant from making or using such recordings again and specifically ordered that Champion's name not be used again.

Street Lighting Program To Start

The Monroe Utilities Commission announced yesterday that it will start Monday on installation of new street lights in south Monroe at a cost of $100,000.

Plans call for putting in 140 modern street lights in the Vernon Street to Lidel Street area, and four other areas in the city are scheduled for similar improvement during the next several weeks, French L. Smith, commission chairman, declared. The work will be done by crews from the commission's group of technicians.

Smith explained that this work made possible through funds provided by last summer's $4.5 million bond issue voted by Monroe property owners for improvement and expansion of the city's water and light systems.

At Intersections
The new incandescent lights will be placed at the intersections of all residential streets with installations every 300 feet down the street.

Tom H. Underwood, Utilities Commission manager, said the system on Jackson and Lee calls for a light every 150 feet. He said Jackson and Lee are main thoroughfares.

Smith said the new system was "badly needed" in the southside of town and explained that H. W. McSherry, commissioner of finance and utilities, is serving in an advisory capacity in selecting the areas for the program.

"Mr. McSherry is playing an important part in this program by helping us select the areas that need new lights the most," Smith said.

He explained that McSherry is handling telephone calls from cit-

Jury Foreman Denies Threat Against Victim

NEW YORK (AP)—Top school officials say a junior high school principal may have killed himself because a grand jury threatened him with indictment. The foreman of the jury denies the charge.

The accusation came yesterday at funeral services for George Goldfarb, 55, principal of Brooklyn's John Marshall Junior High School.

On Tuesday, Goldfarb leaped from the roof of his apartment house at the time he was to make his third appearance before the Brooklyn grand jury. The panel is probing crime and juvenile delinquency in the public schools.

Charles H. Silver, president of the City Board of Education, told newsmen at Goldfarb's last rites that the school principal had been threatened with indictment and "this probably caused him to take his life. He was very worried."

As School Supt. William Jansen listened and nodded approval Silver said: "Several hours before Mr. Goldfarb appeared before the grand jury last Thursday (for the second time) he came before the Board of Education."

"In discussing with us his grand jury interrogation, he said that a juror had warned him he might be, or could be, indicted."

No indication was given on what charge Goldfarb could have been indicted.

Grand jury foreman A. George Golden immediately issued a denial, terming Silver's statement "a deliberate lie," adding that Silver "made that up out of his own mind to befuddle the public."

At no time since the special panel started its probe last Nov. 6, Golden said, "have we ever threatened anyone in that jury room. Everybody has been treated with respect and courtesy. We are dealing with respected officials and not with hoodlums and roughnecks. We are trying to help the Board of Education."

Golden continued: "In everything we have done thus far, the board officials have deliberately lied and cast remarks against the members of this grand jury."

Meanwhile, some students at racially mixed John Marshall—the student body is 45 per cent Negro and 10 per cent Puerto Rican—threatened news and cameramen, saying: "You're making us look bad."

"If the cops come in our school, we'll make them move out," they said.

Tallulah Mayor Services Held For Newellton Mayor Hargrove LMA Award

ALEXANDRIA (Special) — Tallulah's Mayor W. P. Sevier, Jr., will be honored, Thursday, Feb. 13th. He will receive the Louisiana Municipal Review's "Distinguished Service Award" for meritorious achievement in his community.

The award, sponsored by the Municipal Review in cooperation with the Louisiana Municipal Association goes to those mayors whose leadership has been outstanding in developing and carrying through progressive programs and whose service has been "beyond the usual duties of a mayor."

Present Award Mayor W. George Bowdon of Alexandria, executive vice-president of the LMA, will present the award at a special council meeting according to Claude Morgan public relations director of the LMA.

The ceremony will be held at the city hall. Several area mayors and members of the LMA executive board have been invited to attend.

Morgan said the award is being presented to Mayor Sevier in view of the outstanding accomplishments of his administration in leading the town of Tallulah through an improvement program which has touched every phase of municipal affairs.

Ruston Chamber To Host School Officials Tonight

RUSTON (Special) — Dr. James E. Gates, dean of the College of Business Administration at the University of Georgia, will be principal speaker at the 38th annual Chamber of Commerce meeting to be held at 7 p.m. at the Tech cafeteria.

The purpose of the meeting is to build up better relations between Ruston and its five neighboring parishes and to gain as much support as possible for the area's biggest asset — Louisiana Tech. With this in mind, officials have invited 64 high school principals and superintendents with their wives to attend.

Officers will be installed at the banquet with Burton Risinger taking office as president. He succeeds Bill Hendrikson.

A coffee hour will be held in Adams Hall preceding the banquet with school officials as special guests.

'Y' Groups Slate Weekend Retreat

Sessions on developing ideas for club programs, service projects, devotionals and other activities will highlight the Twin Cities High and Y-Teen retreats at Camp

Alabama this week end, it was announced today. Representatives from the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. groups at New Orleans, Ouachita and West Monroe high schools were scheduled to participate.

There will be planned recreation Saturday evening and worship services will be conducted at the camp on Sunday morning.

NATIONAL PRESIDENT VISITS SHREVEPORT — UP — Charles E. Shearer, president of the National Junior Chamber of Commerce, will attend the Louisiana State Jaycee distinguished service award board meeting Saturday and Sunday. He will also present the service award to Louisiana's outstanding young man of 1957 at a banquet Saturday night.
